Sudden Snow Snarls Traffic

A snowstorm that sneaked up on eastern Nebraska early Friday virtually stalled air traffic and made ground traffic hazardous in some areas.

The heaviest snowfall was reported in a large belt bordered by a line from Ogallala to Ainsworth, east along the state border to Sioux City and back through Greeley, Ord, Lexington and McCook.

The Ord area appeared to have the largest snowfall Friday. Although no official record is made, estimates ranged from 7½ to 10 inches of new snow, according to Ord police officials.

Ainsworth and Broken Bow reported 6 to 7 inches of new snow, North Platte had 4½ inches, Oakdale and Norfolk had 4 inches, Neligh to Osmond had 3 to 4 inches, Omaha had 2½ inches and Newman Grove and Grand Island reported 2 inches.

Some small school districts in the Omaha area dismissed classes as the snow mounted. In Omaha, broadcasts indicated that parents could come to school and get their children, but classes were not actually dismissed.

Lincoln 3 To 6 Inches

The U.S. Weather Bureau at the Lincoln airport said that snowfall there was 3 inches. However, an official said that the bureau had received reports of 5 to 6 inches of new snow on the eastern edge of town. The city also had about 1 inch on the ground from previous snowfalls.

During the snowstorm in Lincoln, from about 8 to 10:30 a.m., airline service to the city came to a halt with three Frontier Airlines flights and two United Air Lines flights bypassing Lincoln. Service was restored to normal later in the morning, however, officials said.

Top priority with city street cleaning crews went to the main arterials according to Lloyd Bomberger, street department superintendent.

Surprise Storm

The new storm Friday developed rapidly and was unexpected — not even appearing in Weather Bureau forecasts early Friday. Snow began falling in the North Platte area and moved eastward quickly.

By 10 a.m. most of eastern Nebraska had experienced moderate to heavy snow with winds as high as 20 miles an hour, the Weather Bureau said.

Visibility was low and was down to 3-16 of a mile in Lincoln early in the day.

Meteorologists at the Weather Bureau said they had not expected the breakdown of a high pressure area, which allowed moisture to the south to move into eastern Nebraska.

Snowfall had stopped by midafternoon in all areas and an official for the State Department of Roads said that roads north of a line through Lincoln, Grand Island, North Platte and Scottsbluff were 50 to 100% snowpacked, especially in the northeastern part of the state. state.

Highways south of the line, he said, were reported wet to near normal. No roads in the state were reported blocked.

Ice jams on the Missouri River, which had been backing up water above Nebraska City this week, Friday caused some overflow — as much as two feet — in low lying areas upstream from the city where there are no protective levees.

French Suggest Big Four Talks

. . . AT UNITED NATIONS

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — France announced Friday it had proposed that France, the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union meet at the U.N. and discuss how to end the Mideast crisis.

A statement to that effect also was issued by the foreign ministry in Paris. It indicated the aim of the meeting would be to seek implementation of the U.N. Security Council's formula of Nov. 22, 1967.

Dates Mentioned

A French spokesman here said the proposal was made to the other three powers Thursday and that the meetings, if all parties agreed, could start sometime between Jan. 25 and Feb. 15.

The Big Four powers mentioned in the French proposal are four of the 15-nation Security Council's five permanent members. The fifth, Nationalist China, is not recognized by the Soviet Union.

The Paris statement was worded to avoid any implication that the Big Four would try to impose a solution to the Arab-Israeli dispute. Israel has stated strongly it will have no part of any imposed solution.

The 1967 Security Council resolution called for Israeli withdrawal from Arab lands occupied in the Mideast war of June 5-10, 1967, coupled with Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist. Efforts to get the two sides to agree on implementing the resolution have failed.

Thant Seems 'Pleased'

Claude Chayet, acting head of the French U.N. delegation, said he had informed Secretary-General U Thant of the proposal and that Thant "seemed rather pleased to hear that something was being done."

There have been reports in recent weeks that the Soviet Union was sounding out the other big powers on a Mideast peace formula. There was no indication that the two developments were connected.

The foreign ministry announcement said France was prompted to propose the meeting by a "worrisome aggravation" of the Mideast dispute.

It referred apparently to Israel's recent commando attack on Beirut International Airport and a subsequent increase in tensions between Israel and Lebanon.

In Washington, the State Department was reserved on the French proposal. Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said, "We will of course study the proposal carefully."

Lebanon Thought Facing A Serious Internal Struggle

By United Press International

Diplomatic sources said Friday that Lebanon may soon be faced with a confrontation between Arab commandos and regular forces similar to that which wracked Jordan last year.

Despite official Lebanese denials, reports reaching London from reliable Arab sources said 500 Palestinian guerrillas, almost all from the Al-Fatah organization, are grouped in base camps along Lebanon's southern border with Israel.

R. A. Dier Chosen As U.S. Attorney

Kearney (UPI) — Kearney attorney Richard A. Dier confirmed Friday night he will be appointed the U.S. attorney for Nebraska, succeeding Theodore Richling of Omaha.

Dier said he had conferred with Nebraska Sens. Roman L. Hruska and Carl T. Curtis "a unmber of times" and knew "a short time back" the appointment wiuld be announced soon by U.S. Dist. Judge Richard E. Robinson of Omaha. Judge Robinson is chief judge of the Nebraska District.

Dier said he felt it was up to the senators or Judge Robinson to make any announcement, however.

Dier, 54, said he expected the appointment to be effective Feb. 1. He will leave Kearney and take up offices in Omaha.

Dier has been a long-time republican worker. His appointment is expected to be sent to the Senate by President-elect Nixon without any difficulty.

'Ombudsman' Bill Planned

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Loran Schmit of David City said Friday he is preparing legislation to establish an ombudsman for state government.

"The opportunity for the citizen to reach his elected and appointed state officials becomes more difficult all the time," the freshman lawmaker noted.

"I think the individual citizen ought to be able to write a handwritten letter to someone who doesn't have to worry about election or promotion or demotion and seek help on resolving his problems with government."

Swedish Innovation

The ombudsman, a governmental innovation of the Swedes which is firmly established in Scandinavian countries, is traditionally a people's advocate.

The idea has only recently begun to attract favorable attention in the United States.

"I think the tendency of government to grow larger and more remote" has contributed to the increased interest in such an office within state and local governments in the U.S., Schmit said.

But, he noted, he would like to see such an office operate at the federal level too, helping the citizen work out his problems with such agencies as the Internal Revenue Service.

Appointed Job

Schmit said his bill will provide for appointment of the ombudsman by the Legislature.

Speaker Jerome Warner of Waverly believes Schmit's idea "has considerable merit."

Too often, Schmit said, the individual citizen "may not know who to go to" in seeking assistance from government.

State senators may be "happy to help," he noted, "but we do not have the staff to seek out all the answers."

Sometimes, Schmit said, administrative officials may not be very helpful in dealing with citizen complaints.

"I think it should be impossible for a legitimate request for action to be shunted aside," he said.

"We should never forget that it is the taxpayer who pays all of our salaries, and everyone in state government is responsible to all the taxpayers.

"I don't think people would abuse the office, but it would help remove the opportunity for public officials to start throwing their weight around with an individual citizen."

Taxing Golfers Not Too Likely

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia (AP)—Tax golfers? Not much chance in this Asian nation because the prime minister, Tunku Abdul Rahman, and most of his cabinet are ardent linksmen.

But a member of Rahman's ruling Alliance Party, Bin Hussein, is campaigning for such a tax, saying: "Some people might be distracted by the taxation but they could go and till the land and increase the nation's production of vegetables and other edible food."

6 Added To State Death Toll; 2 Die In Snowstorm Crash

Six persons have been added to the state's traffic accident death toll, including two young central Nebraskans killed in a one-car accident on snowy Interstate 80 Friday.

The two deaths occurred during Friday's heavy snowstorm when their vehicle apparently went out of control, veered through the median and struck an upright on a county road overpass.

State Trooper David Hatcliff said the victims were Alan Ramsey, 19, of Grand Island, and Mary Lou Dillon, 20, of Juniata.

The westbound vehicle was being driven by Ramsey.

Headon Crash

A two-car near headon crash near Walthill Friday afternoon claimed the life of Anna M. McGaha, 47, of Columbus, Neb.

The State Patrol said the woman also carried identification indicating her home address was Beloit, Kan.

The mishap occurred about 2:15 p.m. on ice-covered Highway 77 3.2 miles south of Walthill.

The driver of the second car was Edwin Lewis Benton, 19, Sioux City, Iowa. He was hospitalized at Pender, Neb., in good condition.

The State Patrol said Benton apparently lost control of his car and it veered into the path of the vehicle driven by the McGaha woman.

Truck In Creek

The body of 34-year-old LeRoy Kopel of Omaha was found in his truck in the Papio Creek. Acting Coroner George Sullivan, who ordered an autopsy, said the death apparently was the result of a traffic accident.

A city sanding truck found Kopel's truck in the creek just south of the "Q" Street bridge, east of 69th Street.

Kopel, a television repairman, had been missing since about 8 p.m. Thursday. Deputy Sheriff James Wintle said Kopel apparently was returning from Ralston when the truck left the road and dropped about 25 feet into the creek.

Car-Train Crash Fatal

Killed Friday morning in a car-train collision on a county road four miles west of Scottsbluff was Larry W. Morrison 28, of Scottsbluff.

Authorities said his southbound car was struck by a 30-car eastbound Burlington freight train. The car was thrown into a railroad crossing sign and then into a ditch at the southeast corner of the intersection.

Morrison was thrown from the vehicle and died instantly. His car was a total loss. Minor damage was incurred by the train.

The engineer of the freight was L. B. Satchall of Alliance.

The accident occurred about 11:20 a.m.

Omahan Dies

T. Arthur Haskin, 45, Omaha, was killed late Thursday night when the car in which he was riding apparently went out of control and struck two trees.

Russians Influenced Paris Breakthrough

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Paris (AP) — A highly placed Russian source indicated Friday night that the Soviet Union was instrumental in the breakthrough permitting four-way Vietnam peace talks to get started.

At the same time, with the talks opening Saturday, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, the departing chief U.S. negotiator, expressed optimism that procedural obstacles would be dealt with quickly and that the talks soon would be down to the business of seeking a Vietnam settlement.

The Russian source, in an informal conversation, was asked whether Moscow intended to help pushing the talks along to a successful conclusion.

"We already have helped you on the table," he replied.

Persuasion Seen

The indication in this was that Moscow had persuaded the North Vietnamese to accept the formula which was adopted when almost all hope had disappeared that the talks could open before the end of the Johnson administration.

The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front gave an indication of the difficulties ahead by laying down a hard line Friday on the eve of the first session of the talks.

An indication of the tough bargaining to come was provided by a news conference of Tran Hoai Nam, No. 3 man of the NLF delegation.

The only possible agreement which can be reached here, he said, "must be based on an end to the criminal American war of aggression, the total withdrawal of American troops and the respect of the right of the Vietnamese people to settle their own affairs without foreign interference."

Nam indicated his delegation is willing to talk directly to Saigon government representatives.

Nam laid heavy stress on the front's stand that it is participating as "a fully independent and equal party."

Plan To Pull Out Some Americans Is Being Drafted

Saigon (AP)—President Nguyen Van Thieu announced Saturday his military chief of staff and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, are drafting a proposal for the withdrawal of some American troops this year.

Thieu said detailed plans will first have to be developed by the military staffs of the United States and South Vietnam before a specific timetable can be determined. There was no indication of U.S. troop numbers involved.

Training School Escape Rate Up

Kearney (AP) — The Governor's Advisory Committee on Public Institutions was told Friday that escapes have become the largest problem at the Kearney Boys Training School.

The committee made a routine visit to the institution and met with Maurice Sigler, deputy director of institutions; John McCarty, the school superintendent, and assistant superintendent Victor Walker.

Sigler told the committee headed by Mrs. Kara Lee Eikleberry of Lincoln, that the Kearney community is "getting tired" of the escapes, which have increased at a rapid rate the last couple of months.

He said something must be done to tighten security at the institution, which has no walls or fences.

McCarty said the school might have to reinstate a rule, suspended last year, that any escapee automatically has six months added to his term at the school.

He said the problem may be alleviated when an intensive care — or maximum security — unit now under construction is ready for use in May.

On the matter of hiring Negro staff members for the school, McCarty said he had been unable in attempts to get applications from qualified persons. No Negroes are on the staff now, he said.

In a statement after the session, the committee said it found "an open line of communication between the Department of Public Institutions and the training school, and between employes and the administrative staff."

The committee said this had eliminated administrative confusion found to exist in the past.

The statement said written administrative guidelines and in-service training have contributed to improved employe morale and efficiency.

The committee said it was gratified "to find vastly improved food service and menu as well as a better maintained physical plant and guards." It said "broadened emphasis on remedial education, vocational rehabilitation and emphasis on treatment have resulted in better social adjustment for the boys."

New York Times News Summary

France Proposes Big Four Talks On Mideast

(C) New York Times News Service

Paris — France has asked the Big Four representatives to the U.N. Security Council to meet to discuss ways of establishing peace in the Middle East, a spokesman of the French foreign ministry said. (More on Page 1.)

'Continuing Consultations' Asked

Washington —The United States has suggested to the Soviet Union that there be "continuing consultations" among the great powers on a Middle East peace. But the State Department believes that primary peace efforts rest with Gunnar V. Jarring, the U.N. representative, and reacted coolly to the French proposal. (More on Page 16.)

Lodge To Do 'All I Can'

Washington — Henry Cabot Lodge, who will be the Nixon administration's chief negotiator in Paris, said he would do "everything I can" to make the peace talks successful. "I'm not a hard-liner," he said after a closed door session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. "I'm not a softliner. I try to be a realist."

IBM Charged With Monopoly

Washington — The Justice Department said it had filed suit against the giant International Business Machines Corp. for monopolizing the $3 billion general purpose digital computer market. (More on Page 9.)

Brokerage Firm Penalized

Washington — The Securities and Exchange Commission ordered the major brokerage firm of Blyth & Co. to shut its government bond department for 15 days as a penalty for using inside information concerning United States government securities. The firm replied that it no longer employed any of the people involved in the illegal activity.

Treasury Nomination Approved

Washington — The Senate Finance Committee unanimously approved the nomination of David M. Kennedy to be secretary of the Treasury after the Chicago banker agreed to revise and tighten his plan for putting his stock in an Illinois bank in trust. Walter J. Hickel, governor of Alaska and secretary of the interior-designate, agreed to dispose of an estimated $1 million worth of stock in a company with gas pipeline holdings in his state. (More on Page 2.)

Funds Used Improperly

New York — The state attorney general's office has found that an "alarming number" of foundation directors have allegedly used funds earmarked for charity in their personal business dealings. The alleged abuses came to light under a new law requiring foundations to register and make annual reports to the state.

Director Pleads Poverty

New York — Willie J. Smith, the $18,000-a-year director of the city's Neighborhood Youth Corps, said he had $150 in the bank and $5,700 in debts. "When people see the report of my financial situation, I think they'll probably take up a collection for me," Smith said after a brief appearance before a Manhattan grand jury that is understood to be looking into alleged corruption in the city's poverty program.

Grand Jury Indicts Cohn

New York — Roy M. Cohn and three others were indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of bribery conspiracy, extortion and blackmail in connection with the city's condemnation of the bus routes of Fifth Avenue Coach Lines, Inc.

Johnson Talks With Press

3 Cosmonauts Land In 31-Below Cold

World News

Moscow (AP) — Three of the Soviet Union's four orbiting cosmonauts came down on the windswept, snow-covered steppes of Kazakhstan Friday and climbed from their Soyuz 4 spacecraft into 31 degree below zero weather.

Villagers rushed up to them with overcoats to protect them from the icy blast of the wind about 1,500 miles southeast of Moscow.

"How are you feeling, dear boys?" one villager asked.

"No words can express it," replied cosmonaut Alexei Yeliseyev. "Very glad. Extremely happy."

Soyuz 5 with cosmonaut Boris Volynov remained in orbit.

Two Firsts

The cosmonauts in the two spacecraft performed the world's first manned docking in space and crew transfer.

The mission was seen here and abroad as opening the way to permanent space laboratories and assembly of orbital platforms for lunar and even interplanetary travel.

Yeliseyev and Yevgeny Khrunov had the unique experience of landing in a different spacecraft from the one in which they were launched Wednesday.

Together with Vladimir Shatalov they rode Soyuz 4 to a pre-set landing point about 25 miles northwest of Karaganda, a steel-making city.

A recovery helicopter spotted the Soyuz ship even before it landed, the official news agency Tass reported.

Volynov In Orbit

The fourth cosmonaut, Volynov, continued orbiting through the day in Soyuz 5 and was not expected to land before Saturday morning when his orbit pattern would bring him over the same landing area.

The Soviet press hailed the docking of Soyuz 4 and Soyuz 5 and the crew transfer as a big step toward assembly of permanent space platforms or laboratories. Newspapers stressed the scientific advantages of long-term celestial and terrestrial observation and scientific work in the vacuum of space.

Engineer Yuri Zenov, writing in Pravda, pictured future space platforms as way stations for interplanetary flights. Here future space travelers could train in space conditions and get acclimated for long space trips.

Foreigners here pointed out the military advantage of a permanent space station, both for sky-spying and even as a base for launching bombs.

And some saw the Soyuz missions as a step toward a manned moon flights.

"The Soviet Union is definitely still interested in the moon race," a Western diplomat said. "But they are doing it the hard way."

He said the assembly of a space platform and development of spaceships to fly from there to the moon would be an extremely complex operation involving multiple launchings in contrast to the single launch technique of the U.S. Apollo program.

LBJ Says Russia May Surpass U.S.

Washington (UPI) — Even though the United States soon will have spent more than $56 billion on space exploration, the Soviet Union is launching more spacecraft and "could overtake and possibly surpass the U.S.," President Johnson told Congress Friday.

The President's annual report on U.S. space activities left it to President-elect Nixon to decide where the United States will go in space after the completion of Project Apollo with a manned landing on the moon.

Johnson said the Apollo 8 flight around the moon and back "greatly enhanced the prestige of the United States as the leading space-faring nation."

A table in the report estimated total U.S. investment in space from 1955 through fiscal 1970, which begins July 1, 1969, at $56.73 billion.

$38 Billion to NASA

Of that sum, $38 billion went to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and $17 billion to the Defense Department. The rest was spent by other government agencies involved in space.

The United States plans to land two men on the moon this year and bring them back with samples of the lunar soil. Three or four additional landings are ticketed into the presently approved $24 billion Apollo program.

Johnson's report said America's space ventures have provided more practical applications — such as weather, communications and navigation satellites — than the Russians and have made more contributions to science.

U.S. Launches 606

The report disclosed that since space flight began some 11 years ago, the United States has launched 606 spacecraft, compared to 358 launched by the Soviet Union. At the end of 1968, the United States had amassed 3,214 man-hours in space, Russia 631.

But the Russians were busier than Americans last year. They lofted 81 spacecraft compared to 64 by the United States.

At this rate NASA said in a section of the report it prepared, the Russians could overtake the United States.

Quizzing Of Hickel In Third Day

Washington (AP) — Two Senate committees gave clearance Friday to three more of President-elect Nixon's Cabinet appointees. But another panel continued its marathon quizzing of Alaska Gov. Walter J. Hickel, chosen to be secretary of the interior.

Friday's actions meant that the road to speedy Senate confirmation on Monday has been opened informally for 11 of the 12 Cabinet posts.

The Finance Committee gave its unanimous approval to David M. Kennedy to be secretary of the Treasury, and to Robert Finch, California's lieutenant governor, to become secretary of health, education and welfare.

Laird, Packard OK'd

The Armed Services Committee gave similar clearance to Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin who will become secretary of defense. At the same time it okayed California industrialist David Packard as deputy secretary of defense.

Sen. Albert Gore, acting chairman of the Finance Committee, raised questions Thursday of conflict of interest in the case of Kennedy, a Chicago banker, and Packard, a multimillionaire electronics manufacturer.

But after Friday's committee session, Gore told newsmen of revisions in Kennedy's proposal to place in trust the stock he holds in the Continental Bank of Illinois, which he heads.

The incoming chairman of the Armed Services Committee, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., told reporters the group approved Packard's plan to put his $300 million in Hewlett-Packard stock into a trust fund, the proceeds of which would go to charity.

But while his colleagues enjoyed smooth sailing through the committees controlled by Democrats, Hickel was asked to explain what Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., called exorbitant profits Hickel reportedly made in a gas distribution firm while governor.

Hickel replied that he knew nothing that he might have done as governor to help raise the value of the gas company stock which he had placed in trust when he became governor.

Third Day

The governor, undergoing his third day of close questioning before the Senate Interior Committee, satisfied one member when he said that as secretary he would not rescind an existing Interior Department order blocking distribution of Alaska-owned land under the statehood act.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the committee chairman, raised the question about the order issued by Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall freezing the distribution until Congress can settle claims filed by Eskimos and other Alaska natives.

U.S. Pullout Is Central Topic In High-Level Saigon Meet

Saigon (AP) — A high-level conference of U.S. and South Vietnamese officials aroused new speculation Friday that an American troop reduction is likely soon.

President Nguyen Van Thieu met for nearly two hours with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam.

Informed U.S. sources confirmed that a U.S. pullout was a central topic. They termed the discussions a general review of the political and military situation in view of the opening of peace talks in Paris Saturday.

Cut Almost Certain

Various American and some South Vietnamese said privately they considered it almost certain there would be a reduction of U.S. troop strength before too long.

Abrams has opposed any reduction in the more than 530,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam until July, when the rearming South Vietnamese soldiers are expected to be ready to take over important phases of the fighting. But informed sources said he has reluctantly accepted the fact that U.S. reductions may come sooner.

Sources close to Thieu expressed belief the withdrawal could involve 20,000-50,000 men, but the timetable has not been spelled out.

TRAIN COLLISION DISLODGES ENGINE

The force of the head-on collision between an Illinois Central passenger train and a freight train knocked a big diesel engine, right, completely out of a locomotive. The wreck early Friday near Kankakee, Ill., killed an engineer and a fireman and injured several persons riding on the southbound passenger train. The trains collided in heavy fog.

Agnew To Be Liaison Man With States

© New York Times Service

Miami — President-elect Nixon spelled out Friday the responsibility for close liaison with state and local governments that Spiro T. Agnew is to assume as vice president.

"It will be his responsibility," Nixon said, "to make the federal machinery sensitive, receptive and responsive to their views."

Conversely, the president-elect stressed that federal departments, agencies and councils "will look to him as my personal representative to smooth out any rough spots in their relations with state and local government."

Nixon's statement was issued from his Key Biscayne winter home as he continued work for the fourth successive day here on his inaugural address.

Hong Kong Flu Is Reported Waning

Atlanta, Ga. (AP) — Hong Kong flu is on the wane in the United States, but it likely will be around for several years, the National Communicable Disease Center reports.

However, if you were a victim this year, chances are you will be immune to the disease next winter when another, although milder, outbreak is likely, the NCDC said Friday.

Meanwhile, the U.S. World Health Organization reports that Hong Kong flu is spreading in the Soviet Union and in several European countries.

The NCDC keeps records of deaths from influenza and pneumonia in 122 cities to help spot the trend of such epidemics, and in a six-week period when the outbreak was at its highest level, 6,805 persons died in these cities.

This is 3,754 more than normally would be expected in these cities, the NCDC said. The number of actual deaths throughout the nation was much higher.

The peak of the epidemic was reached nationally during the first week in January when widespread outbreaks were reported in 36 states.

Soviets Are Blamed

Prague (AP) — Students blamed the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia's leadership Friday for the attempt of Jan Palach, 21, to burn himself to death as a protest against conditions in the nation.

The students produced what they said was a copy of a letter left by Palach, saying other students had volunteered to set themselves ablaze — in the manner of dissident Buddhists in South Vietnam five years ago — if news censorship isn't lifted and a Soviet propaganda sheet isn't banned.

If those demands are not met by Jan. 21 or if there is no "sufficient public support, such as a strike for an indefinite period, further torches will go up in flame," the letter said. It noted that the group of volunteers called themselves torches.

A declaration by students of the philosophical faculty of Charles University accused the Soviet Union of adding Palach's name to its list of victims of the August invasion.

Technology Enhances American Individuality

New York Times Service

Cambridge, Mass. — Modern technology, far from crushing and dehumanizing the populace, has made Americans the most genuinely individual people in history, a Harvard-based corps of scholars has concluded after the first four years of a 10-year appraisal.

The group holds that technology has created a society of such complex diversity and richness that most Americans have a greater range of personal choice, wider experience, and a more highly developed sense of self-worth then ever before.

"This is probably the first age in history in which such high proportions of people have felt like individuals," Dr. Emmanuel G. Mesthene, executive director of the Harvard University program on technology and society, has written in the program's fourth annual report.

"No 18th century factory worker, so far as we know, had the sense of individual worth that underlies the demands on society of the average resident of the black urban ghetto today," he said.

Another Side

But there is another side of the story, too, as expressed by Prof. Edward Shils, a sociologist from the University of Chicago and England's Cambridge University who is one of the program's researchers.

Shils makes the point that the individual's new self-assurance has led him to make bolder and more aggressive demands on governments at a time when the decline of authority and the sheer complexity of problems have made governments less self-confident than ever.

The result is an increased "probability of public disorder," according to Shils, who cites this paradox:

"The social order which is made possible through the growth of individuality, and which I regard as one of the greatest accomplishments of our modern Western civilization, is simultaneously also endangered by the growth of the individuality which it has made possible."

Making sense of today's intricate society, and dealing effectively with its problems, may well require an expertise that most citizens don't have, Mesthene said in an interview.

Lean On Technocrats

In governing the nation, Mesthene said, it may well be essential to rely heavily on an emerging group of "technocrats": persons trained in the computer-based analysis techniques needed to sort out the complexities and subtleties of a rapidly evolving and highly interdependent society.

But he pointed out that making these "expert decision-makers" accountable to the citizenry posed a major problem.

In his view, the rise of the expert analyst and decision-maker places a heavier burden of citizenship on the individual than before; that is, the ordinary citizen must learn more and work harder at his public role — almost as hard as he does at his private career — if he is to understand what the technocrats are doing.

New Snow Hampers Hunt

Broken Bow (AP) — Improved flying weather but a new snow cover which made it extremely difficult to spot anything from the air marked the sixth day of the search for a group of Augustana College faculty and students from Sioux Falls, S.D., missing since last Saturday evening.

Maj. Carl Knoell of the Nebraska National Guard, which is supporting the Civil Air Patrol in the search, said at least three civilian planes, one Nebraska National Guard plane, two South Dakota National Guard planes and two army helicopters were in the air between Broken Bow and O'Neill Friday afternoon.

He said the primary air search pattern was a series of loops extending from Arnold to the Calamus River Friday afternoon giving coverage of an area five miles on either side of a line from North Platte to O'Neill.

Several leads were checked out by snowmobiles, but Knoell said at mid-afternoon all had turned out negative save one, which was being checked by ground. This was in the Ansley area.

Sought is a white six-passenger plane trimmed in red in which an Augustana debate group was returning from Colorado Springs, Colo., when last heard from Saturday evening. It was piloted by Frayne Anderson, head librarian at Augustana. The passengers were K. Don Tebbetts, debate coach; and four students Joyce Estwich, Milan, Minn.; Linda Heidemann, Rapid City, S.D.; Al Jensen, Pipeston, Minn.; and James Houske, Shawnee Mission, Kan.

Winner Area Searched

Besides the Nebraska search another effort was centered in Winner, S.D., with aircraft and ground parties attempting to cover the flight line down to the Nebraska border.

Maj. Knoell said he had been informed that County Civil Defense directors had snowmobile parties out in McPherson, Thomas, Valley, Keya Paha and possibly Boyd and Holt Counties.

Parties of civilians were being recruited to conduct ground searches and more civilian pilots were sought to continue the search.

Col. Ed Binder, the Nebraska National Guard officer coordinating the search, called on ranchers and pilots who saw or heard anything between 6 and 10 p.m. Jan. 11 to call the headquarters since scraps of information might contribute materially to narrowing down the search.

Thedford Report

One report that came into the search headquarters Friday was that a Thedford cattle rancher said some of his cows had come in from the pasture with oil smears on them.

Dr. Charles Balcer, Augustana College president, issued an appeal to all Nebraska property owners. He asked them to check their property as completely as possible for sign of the missing plane.

"If all do so," he said, "it would give a tremendous coverage and would be a truly wide spread search for the plane."

City's Snow-Clearing Crews Plow Streets Through Night

Lincoln Street Department crews responded to Friday's snowfall by working a 17-20 hour day to put the city's main streets in good driving condition.

Street Dept. Superintendent Lloyd Bomberger said many of his men worked a normal eight-hour shift and then worked through the night to remove snow from arterial streets.

Bomberger said he expected all arterial streets to be plowed by Saturday morning.

The night crews began after midnight removing the snow piled up by plows from the east-west downtown streets, and hoped before dawn to get some snow removed from north-south streets in the central business district.

Bomberger said that barring additional snow Saturday he expected his crews to have the north-south streets cleared of snow by Saturday night.

The street crews began work on arterials as soon as the snow began to fall about 8 a.m. Saturday.

"The men had either just arrived at work or had started clearing away ice ridges on side streets when the snow began," Bomberger said.

All crews were called back to start putting a mixture of sand and salt on arterials, and Friday's temperatures were warm enough so that the salt melted the snow, he reported.

Snowfall Causes Accidents

Friday's wet snowfall on Lincoln streets which were still slippery from the ice and snow of previous storms resulted in 40 accidents reported to police between midnight Thursday and midnight Friday.

Fifteen of the accidents, involving six injuries, occurred during the eight hours ending at midnight Friday. But police said the injuries were mostly very minor.

Earlier in the day, police logged 12 accidents during one three-hour period when visibility was lowest on the slick streets.

Traffic Lieutenant William Satterthwaite said the morning flow of traffic was very congested in some parts of the city because of vehicles which were unable to go up inclines and because of traffic lanes blocked by accidents.

He had also received reports of three persons who were injured when they slipped and fell on sidewalks.

Congestion was heaviest at 27th and O Sts., the lieutenant said, because of vehicles involved in accidents blocking traffic a similar problem occurred on So. 27th, he said.

Tie-ups were also reported at 48th and O and at 48th and Randolph where cars' spinning tires were unable to get enough traction to go up hills.

Police Urged Walking

Police officials described driving conditions as "extremely hazardous" Friday afternoon and urged motorists to walk if possible.

Lt. Sattherthwaite said it is difficult to determine how well motorists cooperate with such warnings, because it is necessary for most people to drive their cars to work.

"Inexperienced drivers who are already skeptical about driving in such conditions are the most likely to comply," he said.

But there is one person whom police are confident complies with their warning.

"Some lady calls every morning when the streets are bad and asks if she should drive," said Lt. Satterthwaite.

"I'm sure she follows our advice," he said.

December Was Cold, Snowy; Lowest Temp 34 Below Zero

By The Associated Press

"A cold and snowy December." That's the way ESSA (Environmental Science Services Administration) summer up Nebraska's first month of winter.

Although the first half of December, 1968, was alternately warm and cool, ESSA said, the second half made up for the first half's near normal temperatures.

Temperatures after the 18th of December averaged a whopping 15 degrees below normal, and many parts of the state ran between 15 and 25 below normal during that period.

Coldest reading during the month was 34 degrees below zero reported at Fort Robinson. The warmest was 69 degrees reported at several Hooker and Cherry County points on Dec. 11.

The state got its first indication of what the month would be like when one to three inches of snow fell across the state on Dec. 12 and 13.

That storm was only the forerunner, however, ESSA said. In a period of six days, between Dec. 17 and 23, the state experienced "two major blizzards," ESSA said.

Summary of Conditions

A low from Missouri will be over southern Michigan with a front southwestward through western Kentucky to northeastern Texas by mid-afternoon Saturday. A low from Wyoming should be over central South Dakota with low pressure over much of Nebraska, a weak warm front through central Nebraska and a stationary cold front westward into east central Wyoming.

Saturday will be partly cloudy and continued cold with increasing cloudiness at night. Snow is rather likely at night over western and central Nebraska and is expected to move into eastern Nebraska early Sunday.

Police Seek Two For Holdup Try

Police early Saturday morning were searching the area of the Taco Grande at 4810 Walker Ave. for two young men who attempted a holdup at the business establishment.

Police said the two, described as in their mid-twenties, came to the outside service window. When waitress Pamela Ann Pierce, age 16, opened the window to take their order, they demanded she put available money into a paper bag.

Miss Pierce screamed and ran into an adjoining room police said and the two men ran around the corner of the building, jumped a fence and then ran up the alley.

One was wearing an orange turtleneck sweater and the other was in dark clothing, police said.

Nebraska Zephyr to Lincoln Ends

Train service between Galesburg, Ill., and Lincoln on Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad trains Nos. 11 and 12 will terminate Tuesday, according to Al Rung, a spokesman for the railroad in Chicago.

The Burlington had requested discontinuance of the Nebraska Zephyr through Iowa from Galesburg to Lincoln; however, Friday the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) ordered the railroad to continue the passenger train service between Galesburg and Omaha for one year.

The ICC allowed the railroad to discontinue service between Omaha and Lincoln because of the lack of patronage, which was described as meager and averages 10 passengers per train. The ICC said a definite need exists for service between Galesburg and Omaha.

Train No. 11 leaves Galesburg at 11 a.m. and arrives in Lincoln at 10:05 p.m. Eastbound train No. 12 departs from Lincoln at 11 a.m. and arrives in Galesburg at 6 p.m. Both trains will make their last trips Tuesday.

After discontinuance of the trains, travel between Chicago and Lincoln via Galesburg will be served by three trains making round trips between the two cities daily.

Earlier this week the ICC authorized the Burlington to discontinue train Nos. 41 and 42 between Omaha and Billings, Mont. However, a restraining order postponed the termination for at least a week.

Federal Warrant Charges Transportation Of Drugs

Jose Hernandez, one of two Cuban Nationals recently apprehended near Lincoln with a large supply of marijuana hidden in their car, has been charged in a federal warrant with illegal transport of narcotic drugs in New York.

Inspector Robert Sawdon of the Lincoln Police Department, said the charge involves five "kilos" of cocaine which officials believe had been smuggled from South America.

This amount of cocaine would be worth about $500,000 in the retail market, Sawdon said.

Included in the warrant is an appearance bond set at $250,000, the inspector said.

Warrants for Hernandez have also been received from Los Angeles officials for failure to appear for sentencing, from the New York Police Department for the sale of illegal drugs, and from the New York Supreme Court on immigration law violations.

Sawdon said a customs agent identified Hernandez as the man charged with violating the narcotics laws, served the warrant and returned to New York.

Hernandez was arraigned in Lancaster County Court Thursday.

EVENTS
IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

When city officials speak of the devastation imposed by winter upon Lincoln streets, they need to go further than that. There are some streets in Lincoln, quite a few of them in fact, that are almost impassable.

It is not just bad weather that has done this. It is true that the streets are adversely affected by freezing and thawing, a process that breaks the paving up and leaves gaping holes in the street.

But this process works in proportion to the age of the paving and that is the point that ought to be recognized by city officials. The reason we are so bad off today is because so much of our paving has outlived itself. Paving, after all, does not have an eternal life expectancy.

★

Even Lincoln's main street, O Street, is a disgrace at the moment. Through the main downtown area, O Street is as bad as the worst country road or county blacktop. It is full of holes and no temporary patching job is going to do much good.

The people of Lincoln are going to pay dearly for the neglect that has accompanied our street construction program. Nearly every car's alignment will need correction in spring, suspension systems will be in disorder and many tires will be ruined.

What all this should tell us is that we need to give attention to the much talked about but long delayed program of capital improvements for the street system. While an advisory group for capital improvements has been established, nothing to date has come from it.

Perhaps it has not yet had time to do all the work that needs to be done in many areas of our public life but the street situation, it seems, will not wait much longer.

★

Lincoln's streets are getting worse, not better. We are losing ground in what is admittedly a hard struggle to keep the wheel of transportation moving. In recent decades at least, Lincoln has constructed only one entirely new facility—the Southeast Diagonal or Capital Parkway.

We have had a continuing program of widening and resurfacing but it has not been enough. Clearly, our streets are deteriorating faster than we are able to replace them.

One of the most short-sighted things a city can do is to let its street system go to pot. Not only is it an expensive experience for local residents, but with visitors it gives the city a bad name. Nothing will more quickly hurt a city's reputation than a poor street system.

City government has received a good amount of criticism this year on its snow removal operation. There probably is some cause to criticize the operation but critics must admit that the mid-December storm was one of the worst in history to deal with. The combination of ice and snow made the clearing of streets a task that was most difficult.

★

The private property owner should be able to attest to that. Very few driveways were well cleaned after that storm and sidewalks often remained covered with snow for days after the storm.

But if justification exists for the snow removal job, none can be found for the poor condition of paving. We have not made the effort in Lincoln that is required to bring our streets up to standard.

Consider how long we have fooled around with the simple request for the removal of truck traffic from O Street. City officials can point to all sorts of problems, but there is no acceptable excuse for the continued presence of trucks on the city's main thoroughfare.

The president condition of paving in Lincoln should be enough to stimulate the mayor and City Council into action on a long-range street improvement program.

Exemptions In The Mill

We are inclined to agree with Omaha Sen. Eugene Mahoney that the trend appears to be in favor of some kind of homestead exemption coming from the current session of the Legislature. Further, Mahoney's exemption proposal appears to have the greatest merit of those introduced to date.

The Omahan would grant a 50 per cent homestead exemption to those over 65 with an annual income under $3,500. The advantage of this is that it ties the exemption strictly to need, where it ought to be.

There is a good question whether the exemption even ought to be implemented this year but if it is, it should be tied in with need. Putting it another way, such an association places a heavier tax burden on those most able to assume it.

To give a flat or across-the-board homestead exemption would be of little real value and would be discriminatory. It would discriminate against all those who are not property owners and would be of little benefit to all property owners combined.

A flat exemption to everyone would mean no actual tax dollar reduction to anyone because mill levies would simply go up to compensate for the loss in the tax base. Homeowners would get a slight break since business and commercial properties would get no exemption but the net tax gain by the homeowner would be so small he would never know it.

An exemption program that relates to age and income is at least a legitimate recognition of a difficult social and economic problem.

Future Water Quality

A somewhat chilling report forecasting the possibility that some Salt Valley reservoirs might grow unfit for their secondary function of recreation might have a more far-reaching meaning for Lincoln and its drinking water supply.

A University of Nebraska professor, Gary Hergenrader, told a meeting of Nebraska civil engineers earlier this week that through the process of eutrophication—aging—such lakes as Holmes Park in Lincoln, Wagon Train at Hickman and Branched Oak at Raymond might become so ripe that swimming, boating and fishing would be impossible. They would, of course, still be usable for their primary function of flood control.

This process involves nutrients entering into the water causing the water to become filled with algae and other aquatic plants. Some of the sources of these nutrients are drainage from feed lots, farm fields and industrial and human sewage.

The whole problem of water pollution control is raised, but of more immediate concern is that the aging process has an adverse effect on the taste of drinking water as well as its overall detrimental effect on water purity. Lincoln city officials are worried about this; the problem is being studied by the City Water Advisory Board.

Construction of a dam across the Platte River near Ashland would force Lincoln to abandon its deep well water supply at Ashland in favor of new well fields elsewhere or take its water from the proposed reservoir now being studied by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and backed by some Omaha and Lincoln interests.

Lincoln needs assurance that the engineers and scientists will carefully study the potential effects of eutrophication on a reservoir that would be filled from a huge drainage area and the subsidiary effects on drinking water. If it seems likely the water quality would prove to be much less over the years than it is now, Lincoln would have to build new well fields and should be fully compensated for the cost.

The Alternative

Lincoln, Neb.

In your editorial of January 14, you state that "Our struggle in Vietnam has been made to further the rights of any people to live in freedom and democracy if that is their desire and within the realm of existing world conditions of reality."

Anyone even vaguely familiar with our policies in Vietnam must take exception to this statement. Ever since 1954, when the United States prevented the holding of free elections because, in President Eisenhower's words, 80 per cent of the people would have voted for Ho Chi Minh, our policies have been shaped to oppose a communist government in Vietnam. Our tragedy is that in opposing communism, we chose an alternative that wasn't democracy, for we forget that fascism and oligarchic, military dictatorship are the opposite of communism, also. We chose an inhuman dictatorship that we supported, no worse nor better than Ho Chi Minh's regime.

You may argue that we are in Vietnam to support our national interest, but do not try to confuse the American people; we are not as dumb as you believe us to be. The parents whose sons died in Vietnam take no comfort from knowing that they supported a corrupt dictatorship, but knowing that would make it easier for us to prevent the repetition of our tragic involvement in Vietnam.

Work Or Pay

Adams, Neb.

I think those responsible for the change made regarding holidays for some of the employes at the Beatrice State Home should explain why this has been done, for the benefit of all concerned.

All the employes do not want the extra pay, but would much rather have the holiday. The employes should have been asked about it. This was done because of the shortage of employes in all the departments involved, but this is not the employes' fault. It would be more economical to hire more people.

Why can't extra help hired in other departments be placed on the wards as ward aids?

If there is such a shortage of personnel at the home, where do they propose to get the extra employes when all the new programs are in force? I think they are getting the cart ahead of the horse.

The employes should be able to express their views. I think most of them would rather have the holidays off.

CONCERNED

Homosexuality

Lincoln, Neb.

With all the talk today about civil rights, it is surprising that very little attention has thus far been given to one of the most disadvantaged minority groups in this country — the homosexuals. The state violates their right of privacy by passing laws against their sexual acts even when done in private between consenting adults (the public does have a right to legislate against public solicitation and sexual acts involving minors). It is true that these laws are not strictly enforced, but the fact that a homosexual is threatened with criminal prosecution makes him vulnerable to blackmail.

Furthermore, the federal government discriminates against homosexuals with policies which bar them from federal jobs and the armed forces. They are not barred on the basis of their competence but on the basis of their sexual orientation, which is irrelevant to performance on the job or in the military. Similarly, private business often denies employment to homosexuals, not on the basis of their competence for the job but on the basis of their sexual orientation.

ALTHEA GIBSON
They Had A Dream

Althea Gibson always wanted to be somebody. But it wasn't easy for a kid from Harlem. It took her 18 years to get where she wanted to be — at the top in the world of tennis.

The difficult struggle up was marked by frustration and disappointment, and at one point by a temptaton to quit. But she didn't.

And then, at 30, a downhill age for most athletes, Althea smashed her way to victory at Wimbledon and became the reigning world queen of tennis.

The same year she became champion of her own country by capturing the singles crown in the U.S. Nationals. Her victory was the first for a Negro in the history of the swank Forest Hills, N.Y., matches.

The following year, 1958, Althea won both titles again, proved her victories weren't flukes and then retired undefeated from amateur tennis.

☆ ☆ ☆

Born in 1927 in Silver, S.C., Althea began life with most of the odds against her. Her father, a sharecropper, was incredibly poor. Unable to make a living from the soil, he moved his family to Harlem when Althea was only a year old.

The streets of Harlem were not an ideal setting for the development of a champion in one of the world's most genteel sports. But the surroundings did breed a fighting spirit.

Althea became a chronic runaway, truant, habitue of pool halls and a formidable street fighter. A game called paddle tennis probably saved her from disaster.

When Althea was 13 a park director noted her ferocious skill at the game and bought her two tennis rackets. Althea was on her way.

She quit school and for five or six years dominated Negro tournament play. Two Negro physicians recognized her potential, got her back into school and helped polish her rough edges.

☆ ☆ ☆

In 1949 she entered Florida A&M and shortly afterward got ready to test the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn.'s color line. She entered the Eastern and National Indoor Championships. Althea did well, but many doors stayed closed to her until tennis great Alice Marble publicly rebuked tournament officials. Out of the furor, Althea got a crucial invitation to the Eastern Grass Courts championships, South Orange, N.J. Grass court play was a prerequisite for a Forest Hills invitation. She got it in 1950, almost pulled off a spectacular upset, but in the end she lost.

After that, she returned to college, was graduated and took a job as physical education instructor at Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo. She played a few tournaments but soon dropped from top-seeded ranks. Discouraged, she was about to join the WAACs when the U.S. State Department invited her on a tennis tour of Southeast Asia. Althea accepted, came back stronger and soon swept tennis' toughest competition.

After winning both crowns a second time, Althea quit tennis for an ill-fated singing career. Later she took up golf, turning professional in 1963. Now married, and still golfing, Althea lives in Montclair, N.J. •

DREW PEARSON
LBJ Made Progress With The Russians

WASHINGTON — Lyndon Johnson often got irritated with the Russians. Editorial after editorial in Pravda and Izvestia would excoritate him. He knew that Russian newspapers are run by the Kremlin. However, he didn't answer back.

Instead, he invited Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to Washington, and the two men had a long talk, in which the President from Texas gave the foreign minister from Moscow — whom Khrushchev used to kid by telling him he looked like Nixon — his blunt views on the fact that the two major powers had to work together or else blow up the world together.

What Johnson especially wanted was to get Russian support for peace in Vietnam. Asked how successful he had been, he once replied: "I think they have been helping, but they come in and tell me that the Chinese are working against them. They're like you. If I tell you to move out of your house to make room for Capt. Robb, Lynda and the new baby, you'll say fine. Then you go back and tell your wife and she says no. And you come back and tell me you don't have much influence, your wife doesn't want to move out to make room for Capt. Robb, Lynda and the new baby. That's how the Russians are with the North Vietnamese. They say they don't have influence."

Nevertheless, Lyndon Johnson has been making progress, and the Russians have exerted more influence. They were of considerable help in getting the North Vietnamese to the Paris talks. Johnson was hoped to make some progress before he left office. He failed.

But the set-up is there in Paris all ready for President Nixon to cash in on peace.

☆ ☆ ☆

Equally important, the outgoing President has reached an informal understanding with the Kremlin to work together to prevent war in the Near East. The Russians have even offered, in writing, to send Soviet troops to the Near East as part of a peacekeeping force.

This is considered by the few who know about it to be a remarkable concession. If Soviet and American troops together patroled Arab-Israeli borders, border raids would stop and war would be impossible.

Russian cooperation has even extended to Cuba. President Johnson has given hints to Havana that the United States might be willing to end its economic boycott and resume normal relations with Cuba if Fidel Castro abandoned his revolutionary adventures in neighboring Latin American countries.

The Russians have helped, and there is evidence that, at least for the time being, Castro has adopted the Soviet suggestion.

The Russians have also been cautioning the communist world against guerrilla wars of liberation.

All this bolstered Lyndon Johnson's hope to hold a summit conference in Europe before he retired. As previously reported, he talked to Nixon about this and Nixon was negative. To make sure Johnson didn't go ahead with the conference anyway, Nixon sent word to Moscow that he was opposed. Since then the President has been trying to persuade Nixon to hold a summit conference himself soon. Again, the new President has been cautious.

JAMES RESTON
Johnson Constructs Unattainable Goals For New President In His Farewell Address

NEW YORK — In his farewell message, President Johnson told the Congress and the nation: "President-elect Nixon in the days ahead is going to need your understanding—and he is entitled to it." The sentiment was admirable, but the political overtones of the last Johnson speech and budget were unmistakable and won't make Nixon's task any easier.

What the departing President did this week was not only to trumpet his achievements, which is fair enough, but to outline a program that will be hard for Nixon to match and even harder for the new Congress to pass.

Johnson, no doubt looking forward to the next election, has set up a standard which he probably hopes will be used as a means of measuring the Nixon administration at the polls in 1970. "This is what we did," he seems to be saying, "and this is what we proposed to do. Match it if you can!"

It will not be easy to match in the present atmosphere of inflation, reaction and contention and Johnson knows it. In the last four years, as the President pointed out, defense spending was up 51 per cent, and despite the cost of the Vietnam war, spending on the Johnson administration's major social programs jumped from $30.4 billion in fiscal 1964 to an estimated $59.8 billion in the present fiscal year — an increase of 97 per cent, which would jump to 123 per cent if Congress accepted his recommendations this year.

The Johnson message and budget seem to have been constructed by making a list of all the charges made against his administration in the last four years, and then answering them one by one and outlining programs to meet them.

It was not true, he proclaims, that we couldn't afford both guns and butter. "Outlays for major social programs will have risen by $37.4 billion, more than doubling since 1964," Johnson said.

It was not true, he seems to be adding, that the Johnson administration was indifferent to budget deficits, and in proof of this he asks for more taxes and projects the largest budget surplus since the 1950's.

On this same line he cuts the cost of the war in Vietnam, increases his requests for new weapons and anti-crime programs, while asking for a whopping 13 per cent increase in Social Security benefits and requesting larger appropriations for education, model cities and hard-core job training.

This will give Nixon something to scribble about down there in Florida working on his own major speeches and budget. He is just as political as Johnson and it will not have escaped his notice that his predecessor has really put him on the spot.

How will he match the 123 per cent increase in major social programs in the next four years? And what will be the political consequences if he can't? How will he persuade Congress in its present mood to increase these same social programs by the $7.9 billion Johnson requested, assuming he wants to, and what will the Democrats and the poor in the cities say if he doesn't?

☆ ☆ ☆

There is, of course, nothing startlingly new in one political party trying to impose its standards of achievement and progress on the other. The social programs of the last four years would clearly have been funded more generously if it had not been for the Vietnam war, which Johnson passed over lightly. But the Democratic party's battle to hold Congress in 1970 and regain the White House in 1972 has clearly started even before Nixon has been inaugurated.

This is the trouble with the job of president-elect: it comes all too quickly to an end. From November to January as Frank Pace, former secretary of the Army, points out, it is the best job in the land, even better than the president's. The president-elect has all the advantages and none of the disadvantages. It is a golden pause between the brutality of the campaign and the agony of governing.

Court: Salesman Covered By Policy

By Associated Press

A salesman who used a company car for social purposes while on an out-of-town trip was covered by the company's fleet insurance policy even though the company had not specifically authorized the nonbusiness use of the automobile, the State Supreme Court held Friday.

The judgment affirmed the Dawson County District Court in a traffic death damage suit brought by the administrator of the estate of the late Sharon Arndt.

Miss Arndt was killed in an accident in Broken Bow in 1962 while riding as guest passenger in a car driven by Clyde Davis, an outside salesman for Armour & Co.

The case turned on the question of whether Armour's insuror was liable for payment of a judgment obtained against Davis. The court answered, yes.

The Supreme Court said it would not be reasonable for Davis to be expected not to use the car for any nonbusiness purpose while out of town overnight with no other means of transportation. Otherwise, at the end of the business day in Broken Bow, Davis "would have had to leave the car parked adjacent to the last business house called upon," said the opinion, written by Judge John E. Newton.

"He would have had to walk or secure other transportation to his hotel or motel. He would have been obliged to do likewise were he to patronize a cafe, or to go to an evening show or other entertainment, or to attend church on Sunday morning, or to call at the home of a friend or acquaintance, or to do many other things that are normal, acceptable and sometimes necessary, and which employers of salesmen who are out of town overnight generally expect their employes to use the employer's automobile for."

In other opinions Friday, the court:

—Ordered a new trial of a Pawnee County District Court suit which resulted in a jury finding for the defendant, Larry Rinne, in a case growing out of a 1964 auto accident in which Roger L. Christensen, passenger in a car driven by Rinne, was injured fatally. The Supreme Court held the district court had failed to instruct the jury that conditions such as dust, which obscure the vision of the driver, are not intervening causes and do not excuse the driver but require him to exercise a degree of care commensurate with the circumstances.

—Reversed the Holt County District Court, which had dismissed an appeal from rejection of a free holder petition filed by Florence G. Clark and Francis J. Clark to transfer certain land to a different school district. The Supreme Court held that a notice of appeal had been filed on time and the suit should not have been dismissed.

—Sustained the robbery convictions in Douglas County District Court of Johnathan Caldwell and Marvin Dillwood, charged in a 1967 robbery of the Mallory Hardware Store at 33rd and Parker Sts. in Omaha.

—Upheld the Platte County District Court in an auto accident suit involving Edward Forman and his wife, Barbara, as plaintiffs, and Earl Anderson, as defendant. The 1963 accident in Columbus involved autos driven by Mrs. Forman's and Anderson. The lower court dismissed Edward oFrman's petition to recover for damages to his car and injuries to his wife, and also dismissed a cross-petition brought by Anderson.

—Reversed the Keith County District Court and held that Mr. and Mrs. James G. Olsen were entitled to a $10,000 judgment against Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Camfield for false representations as to earnings and flooding in the sale of the Starlite Motel at Ogallala to the Olsens by the Camfields.

—Concurred with the Scotts Bluff County District Court in dismissing an error proceeding brought by the Scottsbluff Improvement Association in protest against action of the Scottsbluff mayor and city council in adopting a rezoning ordinance. The Supreme Court said it lacked jurisdiction to consider the original case on its merits, and that the only remedy in such cases is by collateral attack—that is, by injunction or other suitable action—because the action of the city council was legislative rather than judicial.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Elder Criticizes Welfare Program

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "At 68 I've got no patience with welfare, and I get absolutely sick hearing about welfare recipients organizing and striking for bigger handouts. Folks on welfare these days get more than I used to earn working 10 and 12 hours a day. I'm not kidding when I say that after a lifetime of savings my wife and I have an income just $100 a month higher than what welfare pays a shiftless couple down the street who've squandered every cent they earned. Look at the help wanted ads in the papers. With jobs going begging it's a crime to give handouts to beggars. Let 'em work same as we taxpayers did."

A. — A lot of elders share your view. But modern sociologists say we must adjust to prevailing socialistic attitudes of those in the lowest economic groups who feel entitled to a share in the national prosperity — whether or not they choose to work as hard as everyone else. In the old days folks were brought up with the idea that they had to work if they wanted to eat. But an increasingly benevolent society now teaches that every human life is entitled to basic food, clothing, and shelter.

Q. — "We're retired in New York City and barely existing on total income of $198 monthly. Rent on our three room apartment takes a $95 monthly bite, and it costs 40c every time I take the subway shopping and back. This leaves less than a hundred dollars monthly for food, clothing, and doctor bills. Shouldn't the government give low-income elders a subsidy?"

A. — If you cannot live adequately on your present income, you can always apply for an old age assistance supplement. Thousands of elders receive such supplements. However, it would be more admirable if you tried to stretch present income by moving to a less expensive locale.

☆ ☆ ☆

Q. — "I wish you'd quit being so optimistic about jobs available to older people. I'm healthy enough but because I'm 71 no one will hire me. And don't tell me I haven't looked for work because I have."

A. — Studies show that in this affluent era just about any healthy person of whatever age can find remunerative work. In just about every community of any size there are folks who need babysitters, companions, nursing home aides, carpenters, custodians, paperhangers, and painters.

If you would like a booklet, "Employment Tips for Folks Past 40," write to Robert Peterson, c/o Dispatch Letter Service, 25 W. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10036, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

RONALD NEWMAN

Strives For Perfection

Ronald Newman of Lincoln has been described as a paper boy who strives for perfection.

Since he became a carrier salesman for The Lincoln Star five months ago, Ronald has received many compliments on his courtesy and excellent service.

But if the subscribers are happy with their paper boy, Ronald is equally happy with his job. He feels that the route has taught him a lot about the value of money and how to win friends.

Ronald is a student at Whittier Junior High School who likes to participate in such sports as football, basketball and wrestling. His favorite winter sport is sledding and his number one summer sport is swimming.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Newman, are so enthusiastic about their son's job that they wish every young man could have the opportunity to have a paper route.

Shaw Trial May Be Delayed Again

New Orleans (AP) — The long-delayed trial of Clay L. Shaw, charged with conspiring to kill President John F. Kennedy, appeared headed for another delay Friday — this time at the request of Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's office. There was a strong hint the case might never come to trial.

An aide to the controversial district attorney of Orleans Parish asked an indefinite continuance Friday, shortly after a federal judge demanded additional evidence before he would order the release of autopsy photographs and X-rays.

Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr., who had scheduled the Shaw trial to start Tuesday in Criminal District Court here, said he would rule on the motion Monday morning.

Motion Filed

James L. Alcock, Garrison's top assistant in the Shaw case, filed a motion for the continuance after Judge Charles Halleck of the Court of General Sessions in Washington, D.C., ordered Garrison's aides to back up their claim that Kennedy was fired upon from at least two directions.

At a news conference, Alcock charged the federal government with withholding evidence vital to the case and criticized Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark for releasing Thursday night the findings of a panel of medical experts who examined the autopsy material.

Alcock called the panel report "only a small portion of the evidence, and only that which favors the defense and the Warren Report."

Garrison contends that Kennedy was assassinated in a conspiracy by several men and not by Lee Harvey Oswald alone, as found by the government commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Garrison has charged Shaw, a 55-year-old bachelor businessman, with conspiring to assassinate Kennedy. Shaw has been out on $10,000 bond since he was charged March 1, 1967.

Italian City Gives Mrs. King Plaque

Milan, Italy (AP) — This city honored the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Friday by presenting his widow with a bronze plaque symbolizing the city.

Mrs. King, who flew to Milan from Rome, was received in a ceremony in the City Hall. Besides the plaque, Mayor Aldo Aniasi gave her on behalf of Milan a copy of a commemorative oration written in honor of her assassinated husband by the late Salvatore Quasimodo, Nobel Peace Prize winner for literature.

Judge Enjoins State License Board From Certain Acts Against Misle

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele Friday issued an order enjoining the Nebraska Motor Vehicle Dealers License Board from taking any action against Misle Chevrolet Co. in connection with matters or transactions in which the firm engaged prior to Sept. 15, 1967.

In his ruling, Judge Scheele stated that nothing in his injunctive order "shall be construed as preventing defendant from holding hearings on any action or transactions of the plaintiff's which have occurred subsequent to Sept. 15, 1967 . . ." but does apply to any formal or informal complaint filed with the board up to that time.

In effect, the order voided a complaint filed by the board in 1963, which resulted in Misle's appeal to the courts.

Temporary Ruling

The 1963 temporary injunction, handed down by Judge Bartlett Boyles, enjoined the board from holding or attempting to hold any hearings regarding the revocation or suspension of Misle's dealer license and infringing upon his right to do business.

That order prevented the board from acting on a complaint by Kenneth L. Franks that the Misle firm had failed to honor a written agreement involving the repair of the transmission of Franks' truck.

According to Judge Scheele's order, the 1963 court order was entered on grounds that the board had failed to give proper notice in promulgating rules of practice before it, "wherefore no proper rules of practice had been promulgated by the board and no hearing could be held which would affect the license of the plaintiff."

Rules Made In '67

According to Judge Scheele, after the 1963 order, the board purported to promulgate rules and regulations including rules of practice before the board on Sept. 15, 1967.

The constitutionality question raised by Misle in its original petition has not been heard by the court.

In its suit seeking an injunction in connection with the complaint filed by Franks, Misle had alleged that the state's motor vehicle licensing act did not serve any public health, safety or welfare purpose.

The petition further contended that the act attempted to deprive the Misle firm from engaging in a lawful business in which the owners were lawfully engaged prior to adoption of the act in 1957.

Mrs. Ed Weaver Jr. Heads Church Council

MRS. ED WEAVER JR.

Mrs. Ed M. Weaver Jr., a delegate from Westminster United Presbyterian Church, has been elected president of the Lincoln Council of Churches for 1969.

She succeeds the Rev. Dr. Carl Burkhardt, pastor of Bethany Christian Church.

Richard Wadlow of the First-Plymouth Congregational Church and Ellis Dann of Christ United Methodist Church were reelected secretary and treasurer respectively.

Members at large of the executive committee will be the Rev. W. P. Hustad of the First Baptist Church, Harry Peterson of Quinn Chapel AME Church and Max Young of Bethany Christian Church.

Denominations Represented

Norbert Sukovaty of the United Methodist Church, Luther Een of the United Presbyterian Church, Ed Pavelka of the United Church of Christ, Mrs. Gerald Norton of the Baptist Church and Rev. K. E. Harris of the Disciples of Christ are the denominational representatives to the executive committee.

Also on the executive committee are Rev. Milan Hamilton of Trinity United Church of Christ, president of the Ministerial Fellowship; Mrs. Elmer Barnhill of Havelock United Methodist Church, president of Lincoln Church Women United; and Miss Jeannie Harris of Christ Methodist Church, president of the Lincoln Christian Youth Council. All will serve by virtue of their status in their present offices.

New division chairmen to the council will be the Rev. Thomas Murray of Belmont Baptist Church, Christian fellowship; Mrs. Vernon Forbes of Trinity United Methodist Church, Christian social betterment; and the Rev. Thomas C. Huxtable of Eastridge United Presbyterian Church, in the finance division.

Heads Education

The Rev. Francis Houchen of Bethany Christian Church was reelected chairman of the division of Christian education for the second year.

Dr. Thomas Sullivan of St. Mark's United Methodist Church will serve three years on the Lincoln and Nebraska Council of Churches' Budget Committee.

Continuing members of the budget committee are Francis Minard of First United Presbyterian Church and Rev. Warren Swartz of St. Mark's United Methodist Church.

An illustrated report on the 1968 World Council of Churches meeting at Uppsala, Sweden, was given by Dr. Erwin H. Goldenstein, chairman of the department of history and philosophy of education at the University of Nebraska.

Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., the Council of Churches will hold its annual meeting at the Lincoln Center and will discuss budget proposals and church programs to be given during the new year.

SNOW RACING SET FOR FRIDAY

An afternoon of snow racing at the top of the Holmes Park dam has been set for Friday, starting at 1 p.m.

The City Recreation Department will sponsor the event, which will feature races divided into age groups.

One race in the afternoon will be devoted to one parent and one child on a sled; another will be for high school toboggan teams, another will be a disc race open to all ages.

A tentative time schedule calls for races for kindergarten through 2nd grade at 1, 3rd and 4th grades at 2, 5th and 6th grades at 3, the disc race and high school toboggan race at 3:30, the parent-child race at 4 and a trophy presentation ceremony at 4:15.

'All Politicians Should Have Head Checked'

Washington (AP) — Rep. Clarence D. Long suggests persons seeking elected office should be required to undergo mental examinations.

"You don't have to be crazy but it helps," the Maryland Democrat said in a letter to his constituents this week.

"Your congressman is inclined to agree that anyone who runs for public office ought to have his head examined in view of the financial strain, the long hours, the prolonged separations from family and the abuse heaped on elected officials," he added.

Curtis Youth Saving Father Honored As Nebraska Hero

Hastings — A Medicine Valley High School youth Friday was named a Nebraska Hero for efforts in saving the life of his father last fall.

Robert Metcalf of Lincoln, president of the sponsoring Nebraska Funeral Directors Association, said an award would be presented to Steve Cole of Curtis who last November 2 prevented his father from being electrocuted and from falling nearly 25 feet on to a concrete floor.

The incident occurred while the father, Wilford J. Cole of Curtis, and his son were working on a part-time job of installing electrical wiring at Medicine Valley High School at Curtis.

The elder Cole had climbed to the top of a scaffold that allowed him to reach the roof of the high school gymnasium. He placed his hands on a steel girder and became grounded. A faulty extension cord to an electrical drill had grounded the scaffold.

While the boy's father was "frozen" to the ceiling beam, son Steve quickly noticed the predicament and unplugged the faulty cord. Next, he raced up the scaffold and caught his father who was unconscious and pinned him to the high scaffold until consciousness returned and he could be assisted safely to the ground. The older Cole later recovered from the shock.

Metcalf said young Cole will be honored along with other Nebraskans at the annual "Heroes banquet" during the Nebraska Funeral Directors Convention in Lincoln in April.

Highway-Heavy Contractors Tab Costin As Head

Other new officers include vice presidents Philip Werner of Hastings, George Bath of Omaha, Samuel Olson of Lincoln and treasurer Anton Vidlak of Lincoln.

Ronald Keefer of Fremont and Vidlak were re-elected to the board of directors.

New members of the board are: Ed Miller Jr. and Philip Cain, both of Omaha; L. E. Johnson of Holdrege; James Baldwin of Grand Island, and Mervin Brandt of Lincoln.

Republicans Yield In Senate, Allow Postmasters' OK

Washington (AP) — Republican senators yielded Friday and allowed 11th-hour confirmation of 176 postmaster appointments made by President Johnson.

GOP members, using parliamentary delaying tactics, stalled action Thursday, producing an angry reaction from Democratic leader Mike Mansfield.

The overnight change reportedly stemmed from Republican concern that continued opposition to the confirmations could lead to delay in approval next week of Winton M. Blount, President-elect Nixon's choice for postmaster general.

Some Republican senators were said to have read a threat of retaliation into Democratic comments on the delaying move.

Matzke Reported 'Out Of Danger'

State Sen. Stanley Matzke of Milford remained in "satisfactory" condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital in Lincoln Friday night after suffering what doctors termed "a mild heart attack" Thursday afternoon after addressing a group of freshman senators in the west senate lounge.

Hospital authorities said Matzke was still in the intensive care ward of the hospital but "seems to be out of apparent danger."

Matzke is scheduled to be dismissed from the hospital "sometime next week," hospital authorities said.

Final Judgment Entered In Case On Federel Contract

U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt has vacated a 1967 judgment and entered a stipulated final judgment in a case brought in 1962 against Phillip Yousem Const. Co. and Continental Casualty Co. in connection with a federal contract for construction of Offutt Air Force Base housing.

Judge Van Pelt entered a $195,000 judgment against the defendants "over and above" a judgment of $52,000 entered in 1965 and paid to one of three plaintiffs, Seal Rite Manufacturing Co.

Seal Rite, Woodcraft Inc. and Midwest Application Corp. had alleged furnishing materials and service to Yousem under a subcontract and that Yousem still owed the subcontractors for portions of the total amounts.

Yousem, according to plaintiff petitions, was the prime contractor under a federal contract for construction of Capehart Housing at the base between 1960 and 1961.

The United States was named as a plaintiff in the suit for the benefit of the three Lincoln companies under the Miller Act authorizing such action on certain federal contracts.

Havelock Bank Has 'Good Year'

Havelock National Bank experienced a "very satisfactory year" in 1968, President A. C. Eichberg said Friday following the annual stockholders meeting.

He said that the bank's growth was good and that officials anticipate another good year in 1969.

Wayne Matthes was elected bank cashier and Robert Logsdon was elected to the board.

Other officers and board members re-elected were Eichberg, president; Emery Pont, executive vice president; Mrs. Bonnie Watts, assistant cashier and Ray Osborn, Mrs. Victor Anderson, Howard Hadley, Eichberg and Pont, directors.

Potato Cuts Urged

Washington (UPI) — Cutbacks in potato planting designed to hold the 1969 summer-fall harvest to three per cent below the 1968 level in line with anticipated consumer demand were recommended to farmers by the Agriculture Department.

Tourism Rises

Madrid (AP) — The Spanish information and tourism minister, Manuel Fraga Irbarne, announced Spain was host to 19,183,973 tourists last year, a rise of 7.4% over 1967.

License Plates Trouble 7 Counties

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The "trouble spots" of mismatched 1969 motor vehicle license plates are confined to seven Nebraska counties, Prison Industries Supt. Charles L. Wolff reported Friday.

They were identified as Douglas, Sarpy, Lancaster, Gage, Dodge, Hall and Perkins.

Wolff said the other 86 counties reported in a telephone survey they found no errors or that county treasurers are "handling the few mismatches discovered."

Douglas and several other counties reported earlier this week cases of license plates not matching the serial numbers on the packaging envelope, and suggested the number would run into the hundreds.

Crew Begins Work

Wolff said a Prison Industries inspection crew, which began re-checking packaged license plates in the Douglas County treasurer's office Thursday, had found "only four errors" in two days of checking.

The crew can run into a "batch" of mismatched plates as the plate-by-plate checking continues, he said, "but so far the problem doesn't appear to be as widespread as first suspected."

Wolff said as many as 18 checkers will be working in Douglas County until the work is complete there.

Other teams began work Friday in the county treasurer's offices of Gage, Dodge and Sarpy.

The inspection teams will later move into Lancaster, Hall and Perkins, and Wolff estimated the re-checking can be completed in all counties "no later than the end of next week."

Sorting Out Mismatches

Prison Industries inspection teams are sorting out any mismatches between plate numbers and the package envelope and between sets of plates.

The corrective action, being undertaken "at no expense to the counties," was necessitated by an apparent breakdown in the "final inspection" stage at the Penal Complex, where the plates are manufactured.

Wolff said the mismatches could not have occurred had a "paid inspector" done his job properly.

He said appropriate action would be taken after the inspection crews complete their work in the seven counties.

Nebraska Given $172,000 To Help Teacher Supply

From Press Dispatches

Nebraska has been allocated $172,525 to help meet critical shortages of teachers and teacher aides, according to an announcement Friday by the U.S. Office of Education.

The program is intended to bring additional persons into teaching and provide them with intensive short-term preservice training, the federal agency said. Once they begin work they will also receive inservice training.

Under the program the states will distribute the federal funds to local school districts which demonstrate urgent need for teachers and teacher aides.

Grants announced nationally totalled more than $14 million.

Aussies Assist

Wellington, N.Z. (AP) — Defense Minister David Thomson announced two Royal Air Force pilots — Squadron Leader J. A. Scrimshaw and Flt. Lt. R. L. Ewing — have been assigned to the U.S. 7th Air Force in Vietnam as forward air controllers for six months.

Dairy Promotion Funds Up

Nebraska dairy farmers were told here Friday at the annual meeting of the American Dairy Association of Nebraska they have done more to insure the consumption of their product than ever before in the history of the dairy industry.

J. S. "Sam" Lewis of Fairbury, state manager for the American Dairy Association, noted that the nation's dairy farmers have doubled their promotion funds in the dairy industry and this year have a goal of nearly $15 million marked for promotion and research in the United States.

Lewis Rowles

Daniel H. Rowles of Chicago, manager of fluid milk programs for the American Dairy Association, told Nebraska dairymen that many of the social changes taking place in America will have an effect on the dairy business.

Rowles said he has found the nation's dairymen "optimistic" about the future of the dairy industry even though a great deal of attention has been given to substitute milk products.

He noted that the threat of losing business to imitation products has brought forth the largest budget dairymen have ever been willing to support for promoting dairy products.

Nebraska Dairy Princess Deanna Bond of Avoca addressed the noon luncheon.

The 1969 Nebraska Dairy Princess Contest will be held at Laurel on June 5, according to Lewis.

Unfavorable road conditions cut the usual attendance for the annual ADA meeting to about half the expected registration.

During the annual business meeting Lewis reported Nebraska dairy interests and dairymen contributing more than $145,000 during 1968 to ADA activities.

Conservation Contractors Elect Turnquist President

G. E. Turnquist of Gothenburg was elected president of the Nebraska Conservation Contractors Association Friday as the 250 delegates ended their annual two-day meeting.

Other officers elected were Bernard Janda of Wilber, vice president, and Cletus Bode of Gothenburg, treasurer.

Thursday, the delegates heard talks by Dr. Howard Wittmus of the University of Nebraska on new mthods of terracing, and Al Mathews of the Soil and Water Conservation Commission spoke on "Flood Plain Planning."

Three new district officers were also chosen at the Friday business meeting. They are: Wayne Rolofson, Greenwood, District II; Doyle Lunc, Sidney, District VII; and Calvin Smith, Cushing, District III.

Lincoln church news is carried on a special page in the "Sunday Journal and Star."

Man Acquitted By Federal Jury

A U.S. District Court jury has acquitted a Newark, N.J., man of a charge of violating the Dyer Act.

Philip Stephen McDonald had pleaded innocent to the specific charge of transporting or causing to be transported in Interstate Commerce from Newark, N.J., to Lexington, Neb., a stolen motor vehicle.

Old Lincoln High Friend Realized Dream Of Navy Life

By JOE WING
Associated Press Writer

New York (AP) — The sea winds blow strongly through the cornfields of Nebraska and that, they say, is why the U.S. Navy gets much of its manpower from the midwestern states.

When I was a boy and had never been closer than a thousand miles to the ocean, I read every sea story I could lay hands on and dreamed about entering Annapolis. That dream grounded on the rocks of poor eyesight and incompetence in mathematics.

One whose secret dream did not founder was Carl Bender, a high school friend of mine.

Carl was a tall, grave youth from the other side of town. His mother was poor and his family had no tradition of higher education but Carl became an outstanding student without apparent effort.

Geometry didn't bother him, and he would get up in Miss Jury's Latin class and read at sight passages I had been puzzling over for hours. He seemed like a natural for college.

Well, graduation came at last, as it did in those days for most high school students, and I began to figure out how, by working nights, I could atend the University of Nebraska where tuition was nearly free. Carl also talked vaguely about going to college. Instead, he dropped me a note from Omaha one day, saying he had enlisted in the Navy.

From time to time after that I got letters from Carl. He was serving on the East Coast, on the West Coast, in the Caribbean.

He went from seaman to mate, to chief. He thought he might yet get an aopportunity to attend Annapolis.

Letters Ceased

But there is a limit to a high school friendship unnourished by renewed contact, and the exchange of letters finally ceased. Nevertheless the image of Carl Bender kept popping up every so often.

About a month ago something sparked me into action. I wrote an inquiry about Carl to the Bureau of Naval Personnel in Washington.

The matter had nearly slipped my mind this week when the answer came back.

The big official envelope contained only my letter of inquiry, but someone had scrawled across the bottom: "Missing and presumed dead, July 12, 1945."

U.S. Suit Accuses IBM Of Computer Monopoly

New York (AP) — The federal government accused International Business Machines Corp. Friday of developing a monopoly in the mushrooming multimillion-dollar computer field, an industry in which it is a dominant firm.

A civil antitrust suit in U.S. District Court against IBM was described as the biggest monopoly case ever brought by the outgoing Johnson administration, a star member of which is joining IBM later this month.

The Justice Department asked a restraining order against IBM, which it said handles 74% by value of all digital computers in the nation.

IBM Replies

IBM replied that the very growth of the industry and the proliferation of firms within it during the past two decades offered evidence against any stifling competitive practices on its parts.

The government complaint noted that the computer industry handled $3 billion in sales and leases in 1967 and charged that IBM discouraged potential rivals for a share in this economic plum through its pricing practices and special allowances to its customers.

The government suit followed by two weeks a $1 billion damage suit filed against IBM by Data Processing Financial & General Corp., which was based on alleged antitrust law violations. Data Processing claimed IBM's practices had prevented it from attaining higher profits.

Control Data Also

Last December, Control Data Corp. also filed a civil antitrust suit against IBM and asked the courts to consider breaking up the firm, which netted a record $871 million last year.

Nicholas Katzenbach, outgoing undersecretary of state, is slated to become IBM vice president and general counsel Jan. 20. As head of the firm's legal staff it is expected to fall to his lot to defend IBM against the charges by the Justice Department, which he once headed as U.S. attorney general.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, who succeeded Katzenbach as attorney general, said the civil suit featured government allegations that IBM pursued manufacturing and marketing policies that denied other manufacturers an adequate opportunity to compete effectively.

'Funny Girl' Takes Swipe At De Gaulle

Paris (AP) — Barbra Streisand, who came to France to launch her movie "Funny Girl," took a half-smiling swipe at President Charles de Gaulle Friday.

At a news conference, where most of the questions ran to what kind of roles she liked and how she behaved off-stage, one reporter asked what she thought of Gen. de Gaulle.

"I wish he'd give Israel the planes," Miss Streisand said. "Outside of that I have nothing against him."

De Gaulle has placed an embargo on delivery of 60 Mirage jet fighter planes ordered by Israel.

Sirhan Jury Seating Leaps Near

Los Angeles (AP) — The prosecution startled the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan murder trial Friday by giving up its right to challenge further the 11 jurors tentatively seated.

This means that a jury to try the 24-year-old Jordanian on charges of murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy could be permanently seated Tuesday, two weeks earlier than expected.

Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker called the prosecution's surrender of peremptory challenges "shocking." Peremptory challenges can be made without giving a reason.

Time Needed

The chief defense attorney, Grant B. Cooper, was granted an adjournment until Tuesday. He said he needed time to consider seating the jury as now constituted.

"Don't be surprised at what happens Tuesday," Cooper told newsmen later. "We just might have a jury."

Prosecution and defense both have 19 of 20 peremptory challenges remaining.

If the defense waives its remaining challenges, the 11 jurors will be permanently seated.

Challenge Granted

Earlier Friday, Walker granted a prosecution challenge to the temporary seating of Alvina Alvidrez, a hardware store employe in her 30s. Mrs. Alvidrez said she couldn't vote for the death penalty under any circumstances.

The defense and prosecution seated the 11th juror and prosecutors used their first peremptory challenge.

They dismissed Alicia Duke, an accountant with the state lands division and a divorcee. She was the center of brief excitement when the court heard her son was missing.

Unrelated

The 10-year-old boy was later found to have been at his grandmother's home, and prosecutors said the incident had nothing to do with their challenge.

The defense and the prosecution each have 20 peremptory challenges with which to dismiss any prospective juror without stating a reason.

Mrs. Alvidrez was challenged as a tentative juror Wednesday when she told the court that "under no circumstances whatsoever" could she vote for a death penalty.

Air Commission Meet Postponed

The regular monthly meeting of the State Aeronautics Commission was postponed Friday when adverse weather prevented a quorum of the five-member board from reaching Lincoln, a department spokesman reported.

The meeting will be rescheduled to a later date.

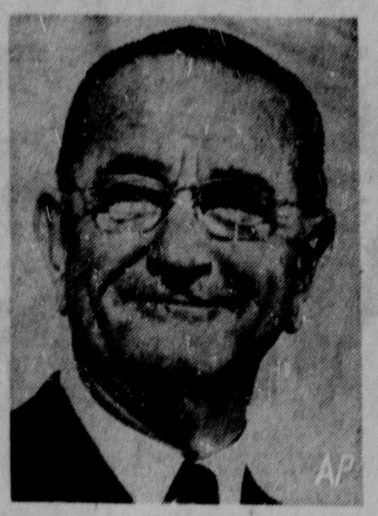
Johnson Leaving Without Grudges

[illegible]

By BERNARD GWERTZMAN



LBJ . . . in amiable mood.

Washington — President Johnson, accompanied by his wife, dropped in on the National Press Club Friday and said he was leaving Washington Monday full of gratitude and without any grudges.

Johnson's mood was his informal best.

Johnson said in jest — But with an edge of truth — that "I've been known to utter a few oaths myself, many of them directed at members of the press."

One Detail

He said that among his "complaints" was that he was misquoted in saying a Peter Hurd portrait of him was ugly. "I thought it was a pretty good likeness," he said. "It lacked one detail—a halo."

And he said he only opened his shirt to show his gall bladder operation scar in 1965 when Sarah McClendon, a Texas newswoman with a strident voice, had demanded: "Mr. President: You've been in office two years. What do you have to show for it?"

Asked if he regretted his decision either to intervene in Vietnam or not to seek re-election, Johnson said, "No." And his answer to why the Democratic Party lost the election was very simple: "They didn't get enough votes."

On his achievements as President, he cited the open housing bill, the voting rights legislation, and the breakthroughs in space.

Options Open

He said he wouldn't "withdraw my options" on running some day for the Senate again, but said he didn't leave public life with the intention of entering again.

The Senate set aside time to praise Johnson's record.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said the circumstances that brought Johnson to the presidency made it inevitable that there would be speculation about strained relations between him and the Kennedy family.

"President Johnson was a loyal lieutenant of John F. Kennedy . . . He campaigned hard and effectively for the election of Sen. Robert Kennedy and myself to the United States Senate. He was extremely gracious to all of us after the events of November 1963," Sen. Kennedy said.

Statue Arrives

Toronto (AP) — A five-ton equestian statue of King Edward VII, who reigned 1901-10, has arrived as a gift from India. The parks committee has recommended erection of the 18-foot piece on a base 15 feet high.

Negro Appointed To Civil Service Board By Nixon

Washington (AP) — President-elect Nixon named a Negro to the Civil Service Commission Friday.

He is the first Negro appointment to the commission in its 86-year history.

Nixon chose Republican James E. Johnson, 42 a California veterans official, to fill a vacant slot on the commission overseeing federal employment after elevating a current member, Robert E. Hampton, to be chairman.

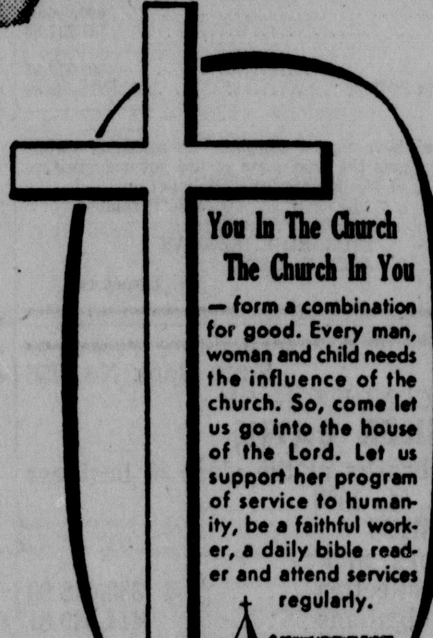
Church Attendance BUILDS CHARACTER

Gadgets or God

Scientific achievements of the world in recent years could very easily detract our minds from our Creator. Wonders of the laboratory have captured the adoration of all peoples. Lest we forget, and lest we start placing our dependance for livelihood in the marvels of science, let us take a second look. "For by him were all things created that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thorns, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by Him, and for Him: and He is before all things, and by Him all things consist." Col. 1:16, 17. Then let us stay with our true creator — let us serve Him. Let us attend and support His church.



You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

'Happy Birthday' Month In Suburbia

Just when we thought that the sidewalks and streets would be in pretty good shape before long . . . Well — snow shovels, any one? If at this point your day-dreams are of packing a bag and buying a ticket to Florida or California perhaps you can take some small comfort in remembering that if we didn't have any winter, we would not really appreciate spring when it (finally) arrived!

Despite January's weather whims, suburban residents have managed to skate, slush, and snow-plow their way through the month's activities.

We will start with the beginning of the month and the young miss with the fewest number of birthdays to her credit, and work our way up. In this particular case you can't get any closer to the beginning of the month, for Miss Ronda Dee Warren chose to arrive on the first day of 1969.

Ronda, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Warren, is now quite happily at home in Cotner Terrace with her parents and brother, Jackson Lee, who is 2½. Her grandparents, all Lincoln residents, are Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Meyers and Mrs. Florence Warren.

Moving on to Wedgewood Manor, we find a young man who, like the new arrival in Cotner Terrace we just mentioned, has a Jan. 1 birthday. In the case of Troy Schweitzer, however, 1969 marked his third birthday.

Troy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Schweitzer, celebrated his birthday on the following Sunday, Jan. 5, when guests at an afternoon party included his grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Rendell, and Mrs. Bob Alley and her daughters Jeanine and Susan. Of course Troy's younger brother, Craig, was present.

At 547 Trailridge Rd. in Skyline Terrace, we find another of the January birthday celebrants, Miss Dawn Wenzl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Wenzl. Dawn's fifth birthday was on Tuesday, Jan. 14.

Two celebrations marked this birthday anniversary for Dawn. The first one preceded the date, since it was on Sunday, Jan. 12, and among her friends at the afternoon party were Kim Kaufman, Debra Harr, Diane and Deborah Fujan, Tracy Pickering, Kelly Robare, Sherry Powell, and Judy Goodrich.

On Tuesday evening, Dawn again enjoyed festivities. This time it was a dinner celebration with the family, including her sister, Susan, of course; and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Wenzl, and Mr. and Mrs. John Schreiner.

Celebrating her seventh birthday this week was Miss Lauri Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Thompson. On Wednesday evening, Jan. 15, a family get-together marked Lauri's birthday, with her sisters Lisa and Lynda present, and her grandparents Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Jackson of Beatrice guests in the Happy Hollow Heights home.

On Thursday afternoon, Lauri celebrated again, this time with an after-school gathering of some of her school friends. Attending the party were Jean Ann Larsen, Renee Isherwood, Carol Sehr, Shawn Kendle, Debra Otto, and Cheri Micharud.

MISS JEAN SCHOENBECK

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Jean Schoenbeck of Lincoln, to Jack Sobotka, also of Lincoln and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sobotka of Tobias, is announced this morning by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Schoenbeck of Western.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, April 5.

Miss Schoenbeck is a graduate of the Lincoln School of Commerce and now is careering in Lincoln.

Mr. Sobotka is a graduate of Fairbury Junior College and now is attending the University of Nebraska.

Betrothal Of Interest

Of particular interest to former University of Nebraska circles this morning is the announcement being made by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bodurtha of Cleveland, Ohio, and Cotuit, Mass., of the betrothal of their daughter, Helen Hyde Bodurtha, to Frederick Picard, III, of Washington, D.C., formerly of Geneva, Neb.

The wedding will be an event of March 8, and will take place at the home of the bride-elect's parents in Cleveland.

A graduate of Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass., Miss Bodurtha made her debut at the Cleveland Assembly Ball of 1956. She received her Masters degree in Russian literature from Columbia University in New York, and is an officer in the U.S. Information Service, currently serving with the African Book Program in Paris, France. She formerly has served in Morocco, the Central African Republic and Nigeria.

Mr. Picard, a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity and Phi Beta Kappa honor society, was graduated with honors from the University of Nebraska in 1951, and received degrees from the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Medford, Mass., and from Boston University's African Program.

He was the recipient of a Fulbright Fellowship for graduate study in Australia, and has served in the career Foreign Service in Rhodesia, Iran and Zanzibar. He was deputy director of the White House Conference on International Cooperation in 1965.

While serving as charge d'affaires in Zanzibar during the recent uprisings and riots, Mr. Picard managed to evacuate 60 Americans — as well as some British, Germans and Dutch residents — to safety aboard the destroyer Hanley. He remained on Zanzibar nearly six days after the rebellion broke out, and successfully intervened for a group of American newsmen with Zanzibar's President Karume despite the guns pointed at him by the president's soldiers.

He currently is assigned with the State Department's Bureau of African Affairs in Washington.

AROUND THE TOWN

It somehow seems longer, but actually it is only three and a half weeks since we were celebrating Christmas, and for Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Johnston it was a never-to-be-forgotten holiday season. We're sure their son, Capt. Robert Johnston, is remembering it too.

Dr. and Mrs. Johnston returned to Lincoln a few days ago from Nuremberg where Capt. Johnston, after a tour of duty with the Air Cavalry in Vietnam, now is stationed. Dr. and Mrs. Johnston spent three weeks, including Christmas, with their son, but arrived just a little too late to be on hand when he received his ninth air medal for having flown 375 missions over hostile territory.

Dr. and Mrs. Johnston spent several days as the guests of their son in his Officers Quarters apartment — and for a good reason — It was right across the street from the hospital area.

It seems that at their hotel in Nuremberg Dr. and Mrs. Johnston had ordered coffee served in their room. The coffee was piping hot in the silver coffeepot, but the cups were glass, so when Mrs. Johnston filled her cup it shattered into bits and as a result she had a badly burned ankle. The medical officer at the military installation treated it, but she was told to report to the hospital every day for 'whirlpool' therapy. Hence the move from the hotel to Capt. Johnson's quarters. Her ankle was as good as new in a week.

On New Year's day Dr. and Mrs. Johnston had the distinction of receiving an invitation to Col. Osborn's traditional New Year's Day reception — the only parents attending. The reception, an afternoon affair at the Officers Club, was for the officers of Col. Osborn's regiment, which, as we have told you, is an air-cavalry unit. The Officers Club is at Amberg, Germany, and is staffed by Germans who, according to Mrs. Johnston, prepared wonderful hors d'oeuvres.

We were interested in learning that Capt. Johnston was sent to set up the border camps — on the German side, of course — when Russia sent its troops into Czechoslovakia.

En route back to Lincoln Dr. and Mrs. Johnston spent a few days in Chicago where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Zahn whom they met while on the University of Nebraska alumni tour in Europe six years ago.

* * *

Now back to Lincoln and a party on the calendar for Saturday evening, Jan. 25, at Hotel Cornhusker.

Mr. and Mrs. Norval Brandt are the host and hostess and they have invited 450 guests for dining and dancing in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Among the guests from out of town will be Mr. and Mrs. Brandt's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Pinkerton and their daughter, Jackie, of Minot, N. Dak., and their son, Allan Brandt, of Kansas City, Mo.

* * *

And we hear that the Backstage Club of the Lincoln Community Playhouse, has a party planned for Saturday evening, Jan. 25, also. It will be in the Green Room at the theater, of course, and since the affair has something of an Irish atmosphere, we have the feeling that it is leading up to the theater's forthcoming production, "The Quare Fellow."

Abby: don't feel guilty

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My three children and I drove 150 miles for a visit to my hometown recently. (My husband couldn't go. He was working.)

We stayed with my parents, but I contacted my in-laws so we could make plans to see them, too.

I think my in-laws are unreasonable. Let me explain: I married a widower with two small children. We now have a third child, also. Since these in-laws cared for the two children of my husband's former marriage until we wed, they figure my husband and I owe them something. Of course, we do. But how much?

They demanded that I drop off the two older children to visit them, and when I left town I could pick them up. They don't care to see me, or my other child.

I flatly refused, saying we would ALL come to see them, but no, they didn't want us. My mother-in-law even refused to talk to me.

I don't know what I have done except to try to give the children a home with a mother and father instead of grandparents. They seem to resent me for this.

Since they didn't want all my children, I refused to let them have the two older ones. Was I wrong?

I invited them to my home anytime to visit the little ones, but they refused. I'd like your views.

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: If you invited your in-laws to visit the children, you have no reason to feel guilty. Your husband should tell his parents that showing such obvious favoritism to his two older children creates problems that he and his family will have to live with, so to please be more reasonable.

DEAR ABBY: Medical science has sure given folks a lot of excuses for their shortcomings. We don't have any more drunks, tyrants, or ill-tempered and "unreasonable people anymore. They are all "sick." Same goes for liars. I know a woman who would rather lie than tell the truth, and do you know what? I am told to have "compassion" for her because she's "sick." So now, lying is a disease, too? I would sure appreciate your comments on this.

CICERO

DEAR CICERO: People lie because they feel insecure, inadequate and inferior. It takes a truly healthy-minded courageous person to tell the truth, no matter how "bad" it makes him appear. So since lying is a symptom of a character deficiency perhaps your friend IS "sick."

Opening lead — six of diamonds.

Declarer's ability to enter his own hand or dummy, when necessary, frequently plays an important part in his management of a given contract, but it is just as important to the defenders to be able to maintain open lines of communication with each other.

Naturally, anything that either side can do to disrupt the other side's communications is all to the good, and many hands feature exactly this type of battle.

Consider this deal, where South is in three notrump and West leads a diamond. Declarer has seven made-to-order tricks and his only source for two more lies in spades.

So declarer must obviously arrange to lead spades twice towards dummy to establish his eighth and ninth tricks, but at the same time he must keep an eye peeled on what the defenders are doing or he may wind up losing the battle.

Thus, if South plays low from dummy and wins East's jack of diamonds with the ace, he finishes behind the well-known eight ball when East takes the first spade lead with the king and returns a diamond. West's diamonds become established before dummy's spades, and the defense eventually scores three diamonds and two spades to nip the contract by one trick.

Declarer can prevent this from happening by permitting East to win the opening diamond lead. If East continues the suit, West's diamonds drop out of the picture, for, while he may later establish them, he will then have no entry to cash them.

East cannot overcome this obstacle to defensive communications by shifting to a club at trick two. Again declarer ducks, and, as a result, South makes the contract because there is no way for either defender to both establish and cash his long suit.

Apparently it takes two ducks to cook East's goose!

Why Grow Old?

Q. How can I avoid ingrown toenails? I have two of them which are most uncomfortable.

A. Get expert treatment for the ones you have. These can become crippling. See a podiatrist. They are caused by wearing incorrectly fitted shoes which crowd the toes. Also, always cut your toenails straight across the top. Do not shape them as you do your fingernails.

Q. How many different methods are there for removing facial hair? Which is best? Why do some women have lots of superfluous hair and others little?

A. There are five different ways in which unwanted hairs can be removed: shaving, with tweezers, a depilatory, cosmetic wax, and electrolysis. The location and type hair effect the selection of method. Shaving is the easiest and most popular way to remove hair from the legs. Many women prefer a depilatory when removing hair from the arms because this does not leave blunt hair ends as shaving does.

If you have a few fairly course hairs on your chin, tweezing is the favorite method. Be sure to pull the hairs out with a steady rather than a jerky pull. Pull in the direction in which the hair grows, not against it. Apply an antiseptic afterwards.

If there are a great many hairs or they are very fine, most women like to use a facial depilatory or cosmetic wax. Be certain that the depilatory you use on your face was designed for facial hair, and follow directions carefully.

All of these methods except electrolysis are temporary. A depilatory has to be used less often because it melts the hair. Electrolysis removes the hair permanently since it kills the hair roots. Many women think they have a regrowth, when in fact, other hairs grow in nearby which would have appeared anyway.

These hair patterns may be due to racial, glandular or genetic factors.

MISS DEE HAYNIE

Of much more than casual interest to town and University of Nebraska campus circles this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Haynie of the engagement of their daughter, Dee, to Robert C. Norris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Norris of Edina, Minn., formerly of Lincoln.

Saturday, June 14, has been chosen as a wedding date.

Miss Haynie will be graduated this month from the University of Nebraska, where she is a member of Delta Gamma sorority, and currently is careering with IBM in Lincoln.

Mr. Norris will be graduated from the University of Nebraska in June, and his fraternity is Sigma Chi.

UP and Down the Street

Lincoln has some very interesting residents, and as we made our trek up one street and down another to visit with delightful people, we learned considerable about their activities.

This week, for example we discovered that many of them have added various interests to their routine living, and we think you may like to hear about them.

Out on South Thirty-fourth street — 1003, to be specific — we found that Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Snow are spending their spare winter moments to refinishing their boat. That should give you a clue as to at least one of the Snow family's interests.

And you're right. They are boating and water-skiing enthusiasts and fortunately they have a group of friends who share their interest in water sports. This group meets at least once — and sometimes twice — each month to discuss their boats and skiis and to make plans for the summer.

Incidentally, Mr. and Mrs. Snow were host and hostess at their home last Thursday evening when they entertained their mutual-interests friends. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Leland Osten, Mr. and Mrs. Galen Reinke, Bill Sipple, and Gayle Miller of Palmyra.

We stopped at 1500 Sioux St. for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Knight and learned that they — at least Mr. Knight — also have a hobby. Mr. Knight is a philatelist, and is a member in very good standing of a stamp collectors club. He is in such good standing, in fact, that when the group held its Christmas party and meeting, he was named president. The gavel was presented to him by the outgoing president, Dr. Donald Miller.

Maybe we should mention that the Christmas party was a dinner.

We will leave news of hobbies and special interests now to tell you about one of those special events we mentioned. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Askamit of 5601 Hartley celebrated their eighth wedding anniversary on Tuesday, Jan. 14. In honor of the occasion they dined at the Esquire Club.

And since we are talking about special evenings we want to mention another which took place on Friday, Jan. 17. It was then that Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kostbahn, who soon will be moving to North Platte, were the guests of honor at a farewell dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fritz were host and hostess at their home, 4820 Sherman. The guest list included the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Reimnitz and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Johnson.

Broad Unicameral Authority Over Power Districts Asked

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A proposed constitutional amendment which would give the Legislature broad authority to consolidate power districts and amend their charters was placed before the Legislature Friday.

The bill, LB353, was signed by Sens. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, Eugene Mahoney of Omaha and Rudolf Kokes of Ord.

Voters last November turned down a proposed constitutional amendment which would have authorized the Legislature to create public organizations to generate or transmit electricity.

Friday's proposal goes farther.

Details of Bill

LB353, if enacted by the Legislature and approved by the voters, would also authorize lawmakers to "extend, change or amend" power district charters.

In effect, the amendment would give the Unicameral wide authority to consolidate and merge power districts, and determine their scope of operation.

Removed from the constitution would be the barrier which invalidated a 1965 law consolidating Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District, and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell proposed a new bill which would authorize cities, other than Omaha, to levy an additional one-mill tax for airport purposes if approved by the voters.

The cities, including Lincoln, may now levy a one-mill tax without voter approval.

Labor Court

LB350, sponsored by Sen. Donald Elrod of Grand Island and five co-signers, would extend authority of the Court of Industrial Relations to determine questions of representation for purposes of collective bargaining for employes.

Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora introduced LB355, requiring the state water resources director to be a professional engineer.

Sen. Orval Keyes of Papillion asked in LB356 that Avery West Road in his legislative district be added to the state highway system.

Budget Group To Start Hearings

The Legislature's Budget Committee will open public hearings next Friday with the Department of Public Welfare.

The welfare hearing will be continued the next Monday, Jan. 27, Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings said.

The "Sunday Journal and Star" delivered at your door has six sections of interesting, timely features. You'll like the sports section known as "Sports Red", or hunter.

Mrs. Craft Did Not Foresee Political Career

Mrs. Ellen E. Craft says she "never imagined" that she would one day succeed her husband, the late Senator Cecil Craft of North Platte, in the State Legislature.

But when her husband died, she was appointed to fill his unexpired term. And after a layoff of two years, she won her way back — this time by election.

She decided to run for the office last year at the urging of friends, the former schoolteacher explained in an interview.

"They said that the men had made such a botch of things, it was about time for a woman," she added, smiling.

"I'm not sure if that's true or not."

But at least, she said, lady senators won't hurt the Unicameral. And she doubts that being a woman makes her look at things differently than the men do.

"We're just as interested in welfare and education as the men are," she said. "We like to drive on good roads too."

Four times a mother and eight times a grandmother, Mrs. Craft, 63, has trouble putting herself on a political spectrum.

"I know I'm not real liberal, and I don't think I'm real conservative. I suppose I'm sort of middle of the road."

"I think my political philosophy is that people ought to do things for themselves if they can . . . although I know there are some who can't."

Her philosophy in general, she said, was pretty much summed up by another senator during the early days of the session.

"He said, 'if you're up and doing, you're not down and out.' I think that's the way I feel. You have to depend on yourself."

Legislative Bills Introduced

By Associated Press

Bills introduced in the Legislature Friday:

LB349 (Moylan) — Revising insurance law to delete requirement that the automatic dividend option be payment in cash on participating policies.

LB350 (Elrod, Simpson, Moylan, Robinson, Mahoney, Bloom) — Authorizing the court of industrial relations to determine collective bargaining agents.

LB351 (Holmquist, Luedtke) — Making unlawful certain acts related to mechanic's liens.

LB352 (Bloom) — Providing for notices of meetings and other communications with members of building and loan associations.

LB353 (Holmquist, Mahoney, Kokes) — Submitting to voters a constitutional amendment authorizing legislature to create public corporations for electricity generation, transmission or sale.

LB354 (Duis) — Clarifying competency of minors to contract with relation to payments under insurance or annuity contract, and revising related law.

LB355 (Kremer) — Requiring that state water resources director be a professional engineer.

LB356 (Keyes) — Placing on the state highways system that portion of former U.S. 370, also known as Avery West Road, running from U.S. 73-75 on the east to Nebraska 85 on the west.

LB357 (Keyes) — Eliminating certain specific meeting dates for county boards.

LB358 (Whitney) — Authorizing cities other than Omaha to levy an additional tax of up to one mill for airport purposes, if approved by voters.

LB359 (Nore) — Providing for the licensing of livestock commission merchants, dealers, buyers or brokers.

Legislative Calendar

By Associated Press
Jan. 17, 1969
Ninth Legislative Day

Convened at 10 a.m.

Received new bills, LB349 through LB359.

Adjourned at 10:34 a.m. to 10 a.m. Monday.

Injunction Denied To Prevent Payne From Sarpy Post

Papillion (AP) — District Judge Victor Schmidt denied a temporary restraining order which sought to prevent Dale Payne from acting as Sarpy County administrative assistant.

The judge said merits of the case would be argued in his court Feb. 14.

Herbert Thiles of Bellevue filed the suit seeking an injunction against the county's hiring of Payne, a former state senator, to the $10,000 a year job.

Warning Issued

Washington (UPI) — Think twice before you pick a hitchhiker, warns the American Automobile Association. AAA says a recent check by police along the one stretch of highway in Arizona revealed that out of 100 hitchhikers stopped and investigated, 84 had criminal records. Twelve others were either juvenile runaways or servicemen absent without leave.

Spartans Squeak By Beatrice

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

Three clutch free throws by Barry Blue and a bucket by Stan Hegener boosted East High to a 47-44 victory over fast-closing Beatrice at the East gym Friday night.

The efforts of Blue and Hegener preserved the win only after the visiting Orangemen had scored 15 straight to grab a 44-42 advantage with 1:45 left in the game.

At that point Blue, who had not started the game, calmly potted two free throws on the one-and-one to knot the count at 44-44.

Seconds later Beatrice's Mike Justis missed a one-and-one chance and Hegener layed one in for the Spartans to make it 46-44.

It wasn't over yet, however, as Orangemen Dick Graves and Rich Schwalm both had one-and-one opportunities in the final minute. But neither could convert, and Blue made it the final 47-44 when he canned another charity toss with 12 seconds remaining.

The clutch free throw shooting proved a bit ironic for East as the Spartans had trailed Beatrice 21-17 at intermission after hitting only five of 14 charities in the first half, including just one of eight in the second qoarter.

In the meantime Beatrice was hitting seven of 10 from the line.

East finished with just 50 per cent at the free throw line (13 of 26), while Beatrice had 46 per cent on 12 of 26.

Neither team shot well from the field, with the Spartans hitting just 17 of 58 for 29 per cent, and the Orangemen doing only a little better with 16 of 52 for 31 per cent.

After the ragged first half East switched to a zone defense with some pressing to cool the visitors to just eight points in the third period.

Led by guard Paul Malone, the Spartans turned the four-point halftime deficit into a 13-pont advantage early in the fourth quarter at 42-29.

But that was it for East until the final two minutes as Beatrice took command and hit 15 straight with Kevin Murray, Gary Kasper and Graves doing most of the scoring.

East outrebounded the Beatrice, 38 to 27, while boosting its season record to 5-2.

Malone took game scoring honors with 15 points, while guard Bruce Northrup added 13 for the Spartans.

Murray was the top point-producer for the Orangemen with 12, while Schwalm, Kasper, and Steve Bailey chipped in eight each.

The loss was the Orangemen's fourth straight and evened their season mark at 5-5.

...Takes Notre Dame Defensive Post

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

George Kelly, the colorful Nebraska defensive line coach, Friday became the first member of Bob Devaney's NU coaching staff to leave.

Kelly announced his resignation Friday to accept a similar position with Notre Dame, his alma mater, replacing Johnny Ray, who earlier moved to the head coaching job at Kentucky.

The exuberant extrovert had to fight back tears as he and NU sports information director Don Bryant drafted a statement to announce his resignation from one of the nation's most closely-knit coaching staffs.

"This was one of the toughest decisions I've ever had to make," Kelly said. "But I just couldn't pass up the opportunity to return to my alma mater.

"It is impossible to leave Nebraska without a great deal of regret.

"Bob Devaney is a great coach and a wonderful person and being able to work with him has been a source of great satisfaction to me."

Kelly also thought of the loyal Nebraska fans, who he had endeared himself to in his eight years at Nebraska.

"There are no finer fans than those who follow Nebraska and I'll always treasure their support and friendship," he said. "My family and I both regret leaving and we want to thank coach Devaney, the University of Nebraska and the Nebraska fans for eight great years."

Kelly came to Nebraska in 1961 as an aide to Bill Jennings and was one of two members of Jennings' staff who were added to the Devaney crew when he came from Wyoming.

Kelly was an immediate hit with Nebraska fans, even during the final troubled year of Jennings' tenure on the NU scene. He and Cletus Fischer were kept on the scene by Devaney.

Devaney was obviously disappointed by Kelly's leaving, but hastened to wish him well in his new job.

"We regret very much losing a valued member of our staff, who contributed a great deal to our success," Devaney said. "George has done a fine job for us, as our defensive record indicates, as well as in recruiting and in every other way."

Nebraska's defensive unit with Kelly as line coach was frequently at the top of the weekly defensive charts nationally and he was a strong recruiter, particularly in the Chicago area.

"We really hate to lose him, but returning to his alma mater is a fine opportunity for him and we wish him success," Devaney added.

Kelly had previously turned down a number of very attractive offers during his stay at Nebraska, including a job with the American Football League's Kansas City Chiefs three seasons ago.

He also had recently been offered the job as defensive line coach at Kentucky, when Ray, his predecessor at Notre Dame, moved there.

Devaney said no action had been taken on naming a successor, but immediate speculation centered on a couple of members of the present staff.

A likely prospect figures to be Monte Kiffin, former Husker tackle who has served the past two years as defensive freshman coach.

Another possibility would be making John Melton, now in charge of linebackers, the defensive line coach with head freshman coach Cletus Fischer taking over the linebackers and Kiffin moving up to head freshman coach.

Rauch Hired As Buffalo Rebuilder

Buffalo, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Bills of the Amercan Football League announced today they had hired John Rauch, coach of the Oakland Raiders for three years, as their head coach.

Rauch, 41, said in Oakland, Calif., Thursday night he had resigned from the Raiders to take the Buffalo job.

Ralph C. Wilson Jr., owner of the Bills, said in a statement released here that he has signed Rauch to a four-year contract. It was the first time Wilson had disclosed he had a coach under contract.

Rauch, AFL coach of the year in 1967 when the Raiders won the league championship, guided Oakland to the Western Division title last season. The Raiders were beaten by the New York Jets, Eastern Division winners, for the league championship.

Rauch will replace Harvey Johnson, who took over the Bills' coaching job when Joe Collier was fired after Buffalo lost to the Raiders Sept. 15. Johnson has said repeatedly he wanted to return to his job as director of player personnel.

Wilson, at his winter home in Florida, said Rauch telephoned him Jan. 1 to say he would be available if the Bills wanted him.

Wilson contacted Wayne Valley and Al Davis, principal owners of the Raiders, and received their permission to negotiate with Rauch.

"The negotiations with John then followed and we agreed on a contract for a term of four years," Wilson said.

The salary was not disclosed.

In 1967, Rauch's Raiders lost to the Green Bay Packers in the Super Bowl.

In Buffalo, he can expect to have O. J. Simpson, Southern California's Heisman Trophy winner, in his backfield. Buffalo, which won only one game while losing 12 and tying one last season, has the No. 1 draft pick.

Rauch will bring his assistant coach, Louis Engleberg, to this city, the state's second largest.

In three years at Oakland, Rauch compiled a 34-8-1 record, the best in the AFL. He took over the Raiders when Davis became AFL commissioner.

—KNIGHTS WIN, 63-60—

Southeast Nips Grand Island

Grand Island almost ruined Lincoln Southeast's "Operation Bounceback" bid Friday night at Johnson Gym, but the Knights converted six of six free throws in the last minute and a half to post a 63-60 triumph.

Southeast, upset by 10 points in its last outing against Pius X, applied the defensive clamps on the Islanders' Steve Murray in the fourth quarter to avoid back-to-back setbacks.

Murray fired in six jumpers in as many tries in the third period from 25 feet or more. The 6-0 senior had 24 points entering the final frame, but a pressing Knight defense, combined with a successful 2-1-2 zone, shut out the Islander ace in the last eight minutes. Murray shot only twice in the fourth quarter.

A revitalized Southeast offense deserves equal credit with the defensive adjustment in producing the Knights' third win.

Southeast managed but eight points in a third quarter lapse, but rallied from a two-point deficit to score 20 points in the fourth, eight of which came off the hot hand of forward Rich Novak, who finished with 23 points.

But Roger Noxon, a quick 5-9 senior guard, was the one responsible for the Southeast surge. Noxon canned four of four free throws in the last minute fireworks on a pair of one-and-one situations and helped the Knights successfully steer through heavy traffic against the Islanders' full-court press with his ball-handling ability.

Novak converted a pair of gift tosses with 25 seconds left to give the Knights a 61-58 lead, but the Islanders countered with a basket by Tom Martin underneath with nine seconds left to pull within a point, then called time out.

Three seconds later, Grand Island's Ray Olsen fouled Noxon, who promptly sank two free throws to end the scoring.

Southeast had held 13-point cushions on two occasions before a 10-point flurry at the end of the first half, sparked by Murray, narrowed the margin to five at 55-50 at intermission.

Both teams collected 28 rebounds in the game which saw 45 turnovers, including 21 by Southeast. Southeast hit 23 of 54 tries from the field while the Islanders connected on 25 of 49 attempts.

The Knights, who stand 3-4 on the season, play at Creighton Prep tonight.

Rockets Nip Links In 49-48 Nail-Biter

"Tight as a drum" was hardly the phrase to describe the second confrontation of the season between Lincoln High and Northeast at Pershing Auditorium Friday night.

Many went home sad, some mad, but none disappointed when the Rockets took a heart-stopping 49-48 victory to run their record to 6-0 on the season and send the Links down to their fifth straight loss after two opening wins.

You never would have thought the end result of the contest was to become so close as the game opened. While Lincoln High was missing its first seven shots from the field, the Rockets sped to a 6-0 lead.

The Links finally hit a free throw with 4:50 left in the first period and Ken Adkins popped in the initial fielder 26 seconds later, but Northeast led, 8-3.

Northeast had a 19-14 lead on a Maury Damkroger jumper, but in came Gary King to put life into the Links. Two buckets by this 6-0 guard brought the tally to 20-20 with 3:16 left and the battle royal was on.

Ron Peery hit a two-pointer to give Lincoln High the lead at 22-20 with 2:32 before the intermission and the Links never trailed again until 4:35 was left in the game.

Two free throws by Peery had the Links ahead at the half, 28-24, Adkins hit a pair from the line to make it 32-27 with 4:49 remaining in the third period, but the Rockets rallied.

Led by 6-3 Harold Hill, Damkroger and Bill Biggs, Northeast came back to tie it, 38-38 at the period.

Lincoln High took a 40-38 lead early in the fourth stanza and led, 47-46 with 34 seconds to play. Biggs hit one free throw with 20 seconds left, but the Links' Gary Carbaugh tied it 48-48 with six seconds remaining.

After Carbaugh failed on the second shot on the one-and-one, Damkroger was fouled by Adkins and he hit the first of his one-and-one to win it for the Rockets with five seconds to go.

Johnson-Brock Border Kings

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Tecumseh — Tall and talented Johnson-Brock won its tenth straight game and the Southeast Border Conference Championship here Friday night.

The Eagles topped scrappy but shorter Tecumseh in the title clash 69-57.

Falls City Sacred Heart captured the consolation crown with an 81-63 victory over Humboldt.

Johnson-Brock's 6-9 Lee Kohrs was more than the Indians could handle. Flanked by 6-4 forward Dave Green, who came off the bench to aid the winners' cause, and sure-handed Steve Knippelmeyer, who engineered the attack from the outside, the Eagles steadily increased a four-point halftime margin to run away with the contest in the closing minutes.

Humboldt faced the same height disadvantage in the consolation contest. Sacred Heart's Tom Hill, who paced all scorers with 25 points, used his 6-5 height to best advantage, controlling the boards at both ends of the floor.

Humboldt was only trailing by four points at halftime but the Cardinals went as cold as the weather outside in the third period, garnering only four points, and that was the ball ame.

Barber's 135 Secures Kaiser Lead After 36

. . . DEVLIN, PALMER CLOSE BEHIND

Napa, Calif. (AP) — Miller Barber, a plump bespectacled pro from Sherman, Tex., recovered from a bogey on the first hole to post a five-under-par 67 Friday and take a one-stroke second round lead at the $135,000 Kaiser International Open Golf Tournament.

Barber's 36-hole total at the Silverado Country Club was 135, nine strokes under par, one stroke ahead of Bruce Devlin of Australia. Two strokes behind the leader was the ever-dangerous Arnold Palmer.

Devlin shot a five-under-par 67 on the shorter but tougher South Course, a par 72 laying stretching 6,602 yards.

Barber and Palmer played the 6,849-yard North Course, which also is par 72. Arnie shot a 68 for his 137 total.

Tied in fourth place were Bob Lunn, the first-round leader from Sacramento, Calif., who shot 65 Thursday but skied to 73 Friday, and Charles Coody, who had a 68 as both had 138 at the midway point.

Bunched at 139 was a flock including Lee Trevino, Gene Littler and Jacky Cupit.

Big Red Games Will Start At 1:30

University of Nebraska football games will start at 1:30 p.m. next fall when the Cornhuskers join the Big 8 and national trend for earlier starting times.

Athletic Director Bob Devaney announced Friday that the traditional 2 p.m. kickoff time had been scrapped.

All other Big 8 schools will start at 1:30 p.m. next fall, too.

Nebraska opens the 1969 season on Sept. 21 hosting the Southern California Trojans.

York Bounces North Platte '5'

York (AP) — York College made its basketball record 7-3 with a 98-85 victory over North Platte Junior College Conference basketball game Friday night.

North Platte suffered its ninth defeat without a victory.

The home team led, 50-48, at the half at York. Slim Goodman was high for the winners with 25 points. Shedrick Bell scored 20 for North Platte.

Quail, Pheasant Seasons Closing

State Game Commisson officials reminded Nebraska hunters Friday that the quail and pheasant hunting seasons are drawing to a close.

Both seasons end at sundown Sunday.

Deep snow in the northeast corner of the state is hampering hunters, but hunting is generally good across the state, according to the Commission.

The Commission said that the state's pheasants and quail are bunched, but that they are receiving little pressure from hunters.

Superior 59, Deshler 57 (ot)

Superior—Deshler went into overtime Friday night before losing their first game of the season, 59-57 to Superior.

Ron [illegible] scored the only two points of the overtime as Deshler sat at least four shots from the field that would not drop. Superior was led by the 18-point [illegible] of Mike Sheets.

Hunting Clock

The following applies to any point in Nebraska that is due north or due south of each of the cities and towns. For each 12 miles west of any designated city add one minute, and for each 12 miles east subtract one minute. Valentine and Scottsbluff schedules are Mountain Standard Time. All others are Central Standard Time. Hunters should set their watches according to the time zone in which they are hunting.

Colts, LA Hold Good Draft Spots

New York (AP) — The Baltimore Colts will make the most selections, the New York Jets will be the first American Football League team to pick last and the Los Angeles Rams will make a record three first-round choices at the third combined pro football draft.

The Colts, by virtue of trades, hold 22 draft picks for the 17-round selection meeting to be held in New York, Jan. 28-29, according to an announcement made Friday by Pro Football Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The Jets, first AFL team to win the Super Bowl, automatically become the first AFL team to pick last in the draft. In the draft setup, the Super Bowl champions select last regardless of their regular season record; the Super Bowl losers next to last.

The Rams have acquired two first-round choices besides their own, getting Washington's No. 1 in a trade for quarterback Gary Beban and Detroit's No. 1 in a trade for quarterback Bill Munson.

Only two other teams will have more than one No. 1 selection.

The San Diego Chargers acquired Denver's in a trade for quarterback Steve Tensi and the San Francisco 49ers acquired New Orleans' in return for receiver Dave Parks, who played out his option and signed with the Saints.

The AFL's Buffalo Bills will make the first of 442 selections in the draft, and are certain to tap O. J. Simpson, the Southern California running back and Heisman Trophy winner.

The order of the first round after that is as follows:

2, Atlanta. 3, Philadelphia. 4, Pittsburgh. 5, Cincinnati. 6, Boston. 7, San Francisco, on choice acquired from New Orleans. 8, Los Angeles, on choice acquired from Detroit. 9, San Diego, on choice acquired from Denver. 10, Los Angeles, on choice acquired from Washington.

11, Miami. 12, Green Bay. 13, Chicago. 14, New York Giants. 15, Houston. 16, San Francisco. 17, New Orleans, on choice acquired from Minnesota. 18, San Diego. 19, St. Louis. 20, Cleveland. 21, Los Angeles. 22, Oakland. 23, Kansas City. 24, Dallas. 25, Baltimore. 26, New York Jets.

—K-STATE ENTERTAINS—

KU Seeks End Of Big 8 Skid

By Associated Press

Kansas' high hopes of making this one of the glory years in Jayhawk basketball history stand on the brink of disaster.

The Hawks play arch-rival Kansas State tonight, and a defeat would cripple not only Kansas' hopes for the Big Eight Conference championship but also its chance of becoming the first school to win 1,000 games.

Kentucky claims the latter honor, but the matter remains up in the air and the NCAA likely will be the final judge of who got to the millennium first. Kansas has won 997 games going into tonight's battle with the Wildcats.

Also on tap today is a game matching Iowa State and Missouri at Columbia, Mo.

The Iowa State-Missouri game in the afternoon will be telecast in the Big Eight area as the regularly - scheduled game-of-the-week, while the Kansas-Kansas State game will be televised on a seven-station Kansas network.

The other four conference schools are idle today.

Never has Kansas lost three games in succession since Ted Owens became the Jayhawk coach five years ago. But Owens admits this record will undergo a severe test tonight.

"It's never easy to win at Manhattan," Owens said, "and Kansas State has an exceptionally fine team which can win anywhere."

Kansas stands 1-2 in the Big Eight, and another defeat would leave the Jayhawks with three games to make up on league-leading Colorado, which is off to a 4-0 start and is idle until Feb. 1 because of semester examinations.

K-State is close on Colorado's heels with a 3-1 conference record, and the defending champion Wildcats are gaining momentum even though they lost at Colorado 73-69 last Monday.

"Anybody who saw the Big Eight tournament has to have a healthy respect for Kansas, and we certainly do," K-State Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons said.

"The fact they've lost their last two games just makes them that much more dangerous for us."

The Missouri-Iowa State game matches giant-killers. Both the Tigers and the Cyclones upset Kansas in the past week. Missouri nipped the Jayhawks 47-46 at Columbia last Saturday, while Iowa State beat Kansas 78-72 in double overtime at Ames last Monday.

Missouri is 1-2 and Iowa State 1-3 in conference play.

Chadron Edges Dickinson, 67-62

Chadron (AP) — Chadron used an early spurt to defeat Dickinson of North Dakota 67-62 in basketball Friday night.

Chadron scored first and held a 13-2 lead en route to a 32-19 halftime advantage, then held off a Dickinson rally after the intermission.

Chadron, now 9-7, was led by Rex Brown with 14 points. Bud Graham and Terry Severson each scored 13 for Dickinson.

Dallas QB Will Start

. . . PRO BOWL SUNDAY

Los Angeles (AP) — Dandy Don Meredith of the Dallas Cowboys will open up at quarterback for the East in the 19th annual Pro Bowl battle Sunday as the National Football League winds up its lengthy season.

Tom Landry, coach of the East and the Cowboys, confirmed the Meredith role Friday, adding that Fran Tarkenton of the New York Giants will alternate as field boss.

Coach George Allen of the West and the Los Angeles Rams earlier this week nominated Earl Morrall of the Baltimore Colts as his starter at quarterback, with the Rams' Roman Gabriel sharing action.

Landry made it clear there really is no No. 1 or No. 2 signal caller.

"I'm not going to say whether Tarkenton will come on in the second quarter or the second half," Landry said. "It will depend upon how things are going and who has the hot hand. However, we are going to try to get everyone in the game."

The East will field a formidable backfield on offense as starters, including Cowboy Don Perkins and Leroy Kelly of the Cleveland Browns, the league's leading rusher in 1968.

The starters for the West in the backfield, as named by Allen, are Ken Willard of the San Francisco 49ers, Baltimore's running back, Tom Matte and the Colts' Willie Richardson at flanker.

San Francisco's Clifton McNeil, the NFL's leading pass receiver, leads off at split end and Baltimore's John Mackey opens at the tight end.

Morrall, who guided Baltimore to the league championship, and Meredith have a common if unhappy bond. Morrall and the Colts were shocked by the New York Jets in the Super Bowl and Meredith and the Cowboys went down to defeat to Cleveland for the NFL Eastern Conference title.

Meredith reflected on the comparison, recalling that he watched the Baltimore-Jet game on television.

"I had a great deal of empathy for Earl Morrall. He's a nice guy and I like to see nice guys do well," Meredith commented.

"I had just gone through the same traumatic, personal experience in Cleveland. In fact, I found it ironic that we both were taken out of the game at about the same time in the third quarter."

Schuyler, Seward Tilt Set Back To Tuesday

Seward — A basketball game scheduled for here Friday night between last year's state Class B finalists Seward and Schuyler was postponed until Tuesday noht.

Jerry Wolman Plans To Sell NFL Eagles

Philadelphia (AP) — Jerry Wolman, financially troubled owner of the Philadelphia Eagles, said Friday he has agreed to sell the National Football League team, reportedly to a Norristown, Pa., trucking executive, on a conditional basis.

"I want it understood the contract is strictly conditional and not worth the paper it's written on if I pay off my creditors," Wolman said of the reported contract with Leonard Tose.

Although Wolman confirmed from his Silver Spring, Md., home that he had signed a conditional sale contract in excess of $15 million, he declined to confirm that Tose was the purchaser.

Tose was not immediately available for comment.

"The guy I'm selling to is a real fine gentleman and would be an asset to the city of Philadelphia," Wolman said. "I'm sure he will be acceptable to the National Football League owners."

Wolman, who owes about $35 million to creditors, had to come up with a contingent buyer under an agreement filed before Joseph O. Kaiser a federal bankruptcy referee in Baltimore.

The principal creditors are the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, whom Wolman owes about $5.5 million, and the Fidelity Philadelphia Trust Co., whom Wolman owes about $2.5 million.

Wolman stressed that if he can pay off his creditors, he will not have to proceed with the sale. He expressed confidence that he could meet the court-imposed deadline.

Thoughts Of All-Stars Excite Paul Robinson

. . . ROOKIE WILL START FOR WEST

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — "Man, can you imagine little old me — Paul Robinson — playing with all those stars. Me, a rookie with only one year of college football. I sometimes wake up in the night and pinch myself."

Yes, it is true. Paul Robinson, only one year out of the University of Arizona, will be in the West's starting backfield when they line up against the East in Sunday's American Football League All-Star game in the Gator Bowl.

"Yes, this has been a great season for me," said Robinson as he trotted off the practice field Friday after Coach Hank Stram of Kansas City had sent his troops through what the called "a very fine workout — one full of spirit and desire."

"First, I was the third draft choice of the Cincinnati Bengals," said Robinson with a broad smile. "I had looked to be No. 15 or so but never No. 3.

PAUL ROBINSON

"I made the cuts and just kept hustling. Then I noticed in the statistics that I was No. 3 in the league and I was surprised. Then I looked again and I was No. 2 — then No. 1 — then rookie of the year and in the All-Star game. It's hard to believe."

Robinson, who went to junior college on a basketball scholarship and to Arizona on a track scholarship, piled up an amazing 1,023 yards to outdistance some of the most feared runners in the AFL. He also got off the season's longest run — 87 yards against the powerful Oakland Raiders.

"I was fortunate in being with a young team and having a great coach in Paul Brown," said the ex-hurdling ace. He doesn't have the classic build of a big-time ball carrier. He's barely six feet and weighs only 195 pounds. He didn't even play football at Arizona until he had used up his track eligibility and didn't know what to do with his spare time.

"My first year will mean $30,000," Robinson continued as he turned to josh with older players. That's what he got for signing and salary. "Man, I never knew there was that much money around for a fellow like me."

California Campuses Torn By Violence; 2 Fatally Shot

By United Press International

Violence and vandalism erupted on California college campuses Friday.

Two Negroes were shot and killed at a meeting in a classroom building at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Campus police said members of the Black Students Union (BSU) and the Black Panthers organization attended the meeting and the victims were identified as members of the Black Panthers.

Nine Questioned

Nine Negroes were questioned by police who sealed off the building on the north side of the UCLA campus in Westwood.

UCLA has been free of disorders such as have wracked other California campuses.

Fifty students invaded three buildings at San Jose State College. Police said several windows were smashed and a bullet shattered the windshield of a patrol car in which a police officer sat near the campus.

Sympathy Strike

Members of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT) have been on strike at San Jose in sympathy with a similar, longer strike at San Francisco State College.

More than 300 dissident students picketed a University of California board of regents meeting in Berkeley with signs expressing sympathy with San Francisco State strikers and scoffing, "Mickey Mouse regents go home."

The pickets kicked in a glass pane in a door of the building where the regents met, tossed two eggs which splattered Gov. Ronald Reagan's limousine and jeered the governor as he left the regents' meeting. However, there was no serious violence.

The demonstrators called for defeat of legislation asked by Reagan to control campus distrubances. They also demanded amnesty for protesters on all state campuses and full credit for a lecture series given by Tom Hayden, a radical revolutionary who was active in the protests during Democratic National Convention week in Chicago last August.

Other Troubles

In developments elsewhere in the campus rebellion:

—Racially troubled Swarthmore College near Philadelphia mourned the death of its president, Dr. Courtney G. Smith, while Negro students observed a moratorium on demonstrations. Dean of Admissions Robert Barr returned to his office, vacated by 25 militant Negro students Thursday five hours after Smith succumbed of a heart attack.

—Some 30 white students of Brandeis University, at Waltham, Mass., carried a hunger strike into a fourth day in support of more than 60 Negroes who have barricaded themselves in a campus building for 10 days. About 150 white students planned a rally Saturday to support the Negro protest. The white students have been unsuccessful in efforts to promote a classroom boycott. Officials of the 2,400-student university said all but one of the 10 demands of the Negroes have been met.

Hear Sentences

Teheran, Iran (UPI) — A Teheran military court sentenced 14 persons to prison terms for attempting to overthrow the constitutional regime and planning guerrilla activities. The ringleader of the pro-Chinese Communist group was given a 15-year term. The others were sentenced to terms ranging from three to 10 years.

Rare Whisky Being Shipped For Inaugural

London (AP) — A rare blend of whisky is being shipped by air Saturday to the White House for the reception following Richard Nixon's inauguration as president Monday.

The Scotch whisky — 12 stone jars each holding the equivalent of a standard size scotch bottle, 26 2-3 ounces — was flown here Friday from Inverness, Scotland.

The blend is called "usquaebach," Gaelic for whisky. The name was first registered in 1876 and the blend is now made only to order by William Grigor and Son Ltd. of Inverness for special customers.

The jars are embellished with these words: "Blended and bottled for President Richard Nixon to commemorate his inauguration in Washington as the 37th President of the United States on 20 January 1969."

A spokesman said the special blend, stone jar, and embellishment makes the whisky about $2.40 more a bottle than fine bottled scotch.

'Rusk With Greatest'

Washington (AP) — President Johnson said that he will remember Dean Rusk as "one of the greatest secretaries of state in the history of this Republic."

One Of VC Captives Freed New Year's Dies In Hospital

Washington (UPI) — Army Spec. 4 James W. Brigham Jr. died at Walter Reed Army Hospital Friday 17 days after he and two other American prisoners were freed New Year's Day by the Viet Cong.

Brigham, 21, underwent brain surgery Jan. 9 at Walter Reed for an abscess on his brain.

The Army said his mother, Mrs. Mary Brigham of Ocala, Fla., was in her son's ward at the time of death. A younger brother, on leave from Ft. Benning, Ga., was also on the hospital grounds.

The exact medical cause of death was undetermined, but a hospital spokesman said Brigham had been in a coma for the past four days.

Brigham was captured by the Viet Cong Sept. 13 after a battle in which he received head injuries. A spokesman said Viet Cong medical personnel attempted to remove fragments from his skull.

The other soldiers released with Brigham were Pfc. Donald G. Smith, 21, of Akron, Pa., and Spec. 4 Thomas N. Jones, 21, of Lynnville, Ind.

Roy Cohn Is Accused Of Bribery

New York Times Service

New York — Roy M. Cohn was indicted Friday on charges of bribery, conspiracy, extortion and blackmail in connection with the city takeover of the bus routes of the Fifth Avenue Coach Lines, Inc.

In addition, a former law partner of Cohn's was indicted in the same case on charges of bribery conspiracy, extortion and blackmail, and two others — an engineer and a former city employe — were indicted on charges of bribery conspiracy.

A six-count federal indictment charged that a former city appraiser who worked on the condemnation of the bus line was paid $23,000 to $25,000 to turn over to Fifth Avenue officials confidential documents relating to the city's position in the case.

In one instance, Cohn was charged with having paid a bribe in the U.S. courthouse in Foley Square.

The indictment further charged that the defendants forced officials of Fifth Avenue to sell their shares in the company to another corporation under alleged threats of exposing their connection with the plot to bribe the city appraiser.

Cohn, former chief counsel to a Senate subcommittee headed by the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., and now a lawyer and financier, immediately denounced the indictment as "a complete phony."

U.S. Urges 2-Leveled Approach To Mideast

New York Times Service

Washington — The United States has recommended to the Soviet Union that a Middle East settlement be pursued on two levels, but it reacted coolly Friday to a French suggestion for a Big Four meeting on the problem.

Both in a note to the Soviet Union Wednesday and in a statement Friday, the State Department stressed that "primary efforts to achieve just and lasting peace" should rest with the mission of Gunnar V. Jarring, the United Nations special representative to the region.

Robert J. McCloskey, the department spokesman, said Washington would "study carefully" the French proposal. However, officials said that unless the Nixon administration changes American policy, the U.S. can be expected to turn down the idea of a formal meeting.

At 2 Levels

The Johnson administration reportedly suggested in its note to the Soviet Union Wednesday that the great powers and the Middle East states seek a settlement on two levels.

U.S. sources said the American note assumed there would be "continuing consultations" among the great powers to work out the common elements for a settlement. In the American view, this process would help Jarring set the "perimeters" for detailed negotiations at the regional level.

The American note reportedly stressed that the second and more important set of talks should be held, through Jarring, between Israel and the Arab states.

To underscore the American view that the regional discussions were crucial, the U.S. note emphatically rejected any settlement imposed on Israel and the Arab states by the major powers.

Not A Return

The American note, reportedly cleared by Secretary of State-designate William P. Rogers, also stressed that any settlement establish a just and binding peace based on agreement between the regional parties, and not merely a return to the more fragile armistice in effect before war broke out in June, 1967.

The U.S. was replying to an earlier proposal from the Soviet Union that called for phased Israeli withdrawal from Arab territories captured in the 1967 war to recognized and secure borders, establishment of a U.N. buffer force along the Israeli-Egyptian border, free maritime passage through international waterways and declarations by Arab states ending the state of belligerency with Israel and recognizing the sovereignty and territorial integrity of all states of the region.

Before giving its reply, the U.S. consulted fully with Britain, France and Israel. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban welcomed the American note Friday.

Whereas the Soviet note had urged the U.S. to press Israel toward a settlement, the American reply suggested indirectly that the Soviet Union could take steps toward the Arab states to improve the climate for enogis the climate for negotiations.

Cancer Kills Vernon Duke, Composer, 66

Los Angeles (AP) — Vernon Duke, the classical composer who earned a reputation in Tin Pan Alley for such songs as "April in Paris," died of lung cancer. He was 66.

Duke, who used his real name Vladimir Dukelsky for his serious music, was born in Russia. One of his grandparents was a descendant of the Georgian kings and another was Spanish.

Dukelsky took an early interest in music and tried to compose a ballet at the age of 6. He studied in Moscow and Kiev with Gliere and Yavorsky.

After spending two years in the United States as a young man, Dukelsky returned to Europe and auditioned for Diaghilev, who commissioned him to compose a ballet.

The ballet, "Zephyr and Flora," was his most famous work. It was performed by Daighilev in 1925.

Virg Hill, 62, Former Fairbury Publisher, Dies

Phoenix, Ariz. (UPI) — Virg Hill, political editor and columnist for the Phoenix Gazette, died Thursday of an apparent heart attack while sitting at a press table near the speaker's chair in the State House of Representatives. He was 62.

Hill was a native of Humboldt, Neb., and began his newspaper career in Hiawatha, Kan. He was a speech writer for Republican Gov. Payne Ratner from 1938 to 1942.

He worked for the Topeka Daily Capital and was co-owner and publisher of a daily newspaper in Fairbury, Neb. He joined the Phoenix Gazette in 1958 as a statehouse reporter.

Omaha Hospital Receives Grant

The Nebraska Methodist Hospital in Omaha has been named recipient of a $157,791 federal grant in behalf of the Nebraska Television Council for Nursing Education, Inc. (NTCNE), it was announced Friday.

The grant — from the U.S. Office of Health, Education and Welfare — funds the first half of a two-year project involving 11 diploma schools of nursing in Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota.

Part of the grant is earmarked for equipping NTCNE schools with portable video tape recorders, monitors and related equipment.

The balance of the funds, however, are designated for producing two television courses, both intended to enhance the teaching abilities of nursing school faculties.

Both of the courses will be produced by the University of Nebraska. Broadcasting is planned to begin in September.

Axthelm Named SCS Speaker

The first meeting in 1969 of the Lincoln Chapter Soil Conservation Society of America will be held Monday night at the State ASCS Office in Lincoln. Featured speaker will be Deon Axthelm, water resource specialist at the University of Nebraska.

President, Harold Gilman, also indicated that plans of the society for the ensuing year will be discussed, including the ladies night and the state convention to be held in Lincoln in June.

Two Men Facing Robbery Charges In Omaha Holdup

Omaha (AP) — Robbery charges have been filed against two men and a third was being questioned as the aftermath of a holdup last Friday in which a partially crippled widow was tied to a wheel chair while her home was ransacked.

Mrs. Ada Byers, who is crippled from a series of strokes in 1963, told police three men entered her home, tied her to a wheel chair and took a variety of items and cash.

The two men charged with robbery are Edward Strong, 21, and James R. Stevenson, 21.

They were arrested and charged along with two others in connection with an attempted breakin early Wednesday at another Omaha home. Charged along with them in the second breakin attempt are Joseph Brown, 34, and Eddie Jones, 43.

The county attorney's office said Brown also is being questioned about the holdup of Mrs. Byers.

Profit Taking Trips Stock Mart Rally

New York (AP) — Profit taking tripped a stock market rally on its fourth straight day Friday and stocks ended the session irregularly lower. Trading slackened.

Volume for the four-hour session was 11.59 million shares, compared with 13.12 million Thursday.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a loss of 3.05 at 935.54 after erasing a small early gain of .68.

It looked like a continuation of the rally at the start, when gains outnumbered losses by well over 200 issues on the New York Stock Exchange. This advantage was steadily trimmed away. By the close, of 1,572 issues traded on the Big Board, 667 declined, and 663 advanced. New highs for 1967-68 totaled 23 and new lows 7.

On an over-all basis, then, the decline was no worse than irregular. The drop in the Dow industrials was due to the fact that selling pressure was heaviest on the industrial blue chips, which paced the rally of the previous three days.

Strength in rails was mainly accountable for an advance in The Associated Press average of 60 stocks. The average rose 1.3 to 353.0, with industrials up .5, rails up 2.1, and utilites down .1.

Rails advanced on news that freight traffic was up about 2 per cent last week from a year earlier. Northwest Industries rose 5½, Norfolk & Western 1½, Penn Central ¾, and Santa Fe ¾.

Domestic airlines also were a strong feature, advancing on news that domestic airline fare boosts of 3.8 percent had been tentatively approved by the Civil Aernonautics Board, effective March 1.

Benguet was the most-active stock, rising ⅞ to15⅜ on 592,700 shares. At that price, trading was halted to allow dissemination of news that the Grand Bahamas Port Authority had refused to extend the Jan. 31 expiration date for the contract for the exchange of stock between Benguet and Grand Bahamas.

Ten of the 15 most-active stocks advanced, 4 declined and Continental Air Lines was unchanged at 23.

The New York Stock Exchange index dropped 5 cents to $57.76. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index lost 15 at 102.03.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange managed to hold an irregular edge to the upside. The A.S.E. index rose 6 cents to $31.98.

Volume was 6.44 million shares, compared with 6.7 million Thursday.

Hog Prices Steady, 25c Lower

Omaha (AP) — Hog prices turned steady to 25 cents lower here Friday. A scattering of butcher sales over 230 pounds was as much as 50 down.

Brief late week trading in slaughter cattle was fully steady. The bulk of the run consisted of choice steers, a few loads of heifers and a fair-sized showing of cows.

Fed lambs were too scarce for a market test.

Democrats Urge Approval Of 14

Democratic Party officials said Friday 14 persons nominated by President Johnson for postmasterships in Nebraska remain unconfirmed, and challenged Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska to see that the 14 have "their rightful position."

The 14 were listed as: Dale Dallegge, Bartlett; Roy Boham, Bassett; H. Gerald Leapley, Belden; Lawrence L. Waring, Bloomington; Robert T. Musil, DuBois; Court J. Fielding, Hayes Center; Orville Joynt, Holstein; R. Eruce Sweenie, Nemaha; Roland R. Norman, Ord; Marvin Holz, Paxton; Donald L. Shimerka, Pierce; Lambert J. Jonas, Schuyler; Melvin A. Jauernig, Stuart; and Charles F. Hoarty, Sutton.

Bridges' Widow Dies

Concord, N. H. (UPI) — Mrs. Dolores Bridges, 52, widow of Republican Sen Styles Bridges, died at Concord Hospital.

Soybean Futures Prices Are Lower

Chicago (AP) — Soybeans futures declined nearly 3 cents a bushel on the Chicago Boad of Trade the past week and grain futues also closed on a mostly lower tone.

Trade was, at best, only moderately active and fairly mixed. Volume for the week appeared to be normal for this time of year.

When trade closed on Friday, wheat was ⅜ cent a bushel lower to ⅞ higher, March 1.34¾; corn was ½ to 1⅜ cents lower, March 1.17½ oats were 1¼ ower to ⅜ higher, March 72½; rye was 1½ to 1¾ cents lower, March 1.22½; and soybeans were 2¾ cents lower to ⅛ higher, January 2.61.

UC Students, Teachers Jog For Science

Berkeley, Calif. (AP) — Professors and students at the University of California are jogging 100 miles for science.

Dr. Jack Wilmore, specialist in exercise physiology, recruited 100 men to test popular beliefs about jogging.

Dr. Wilmore wants to see if the volunteers have more endurance, greater lung capacity and less fat after the test.

The big turnout, he figures, is because of free medical tests worth several hundred dollars.

Transplant Surgeon Nebraskan

From Press Dispatches

Hines, Ill. — Dr. William E. Neville, a graduate of the University of Nebraska and native of Fairbury, headed a surgical team which successfully completed a heart transplant operation at the Veterans Administration Hospital here.

Dr. Neville is chief of cardiopulmonary surgery at Hines, located in a Chicago suburb. He is a 1943 graduate of the University of Nebraska Medical School.

Assistant to Neville in the five-man team was Dr. Rogue Pifarre, a native of Larida, Spain, who received his medical training at Barcelona University.

A Hines hospital spokesman said the implanted heart of Benjamin Evans, 49, of Chicago, was beating normally after the three-and-a-half hour operation.

The name of the donor, who died Friday afternoon, would not be released by the hospital, officials said, but they confirmed reports that the donor was 38 years old and from Indiana.

Judge Is Anxious To See Ray Trial Open On March 3

Memphis, Tenn. (UPI) — A criminal court judge said Friday he wants the trial of James Earl Ray to start March 3, "if humanly possible," and directed Shelby County Public Defender Hugh Stanton Sr. to represent Ray if ailing attorney Percy Foreman is unable to do so.

Criminal Court Judge W. Preston Battle opened a hearing, held to determine the defense's readiness for trial, but saying he had been advised by telegram from Houston that Foreman, the famed trial lawyer who is Ray's chief counsel, was ill with pneumonia.

Ray is charged with the April 4, 1968, sniper slaying of integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Semester Breaks Set For Schools

Students in the Lincoln Public Schools will have a vacation Friday while teachers grade semester examinations and prepare final reports.

The recess includes both elementary and secondary students.

Also taking a semester break next Friday will be elementary and secondary students in the Lutheran schools and Lincoln Christian School.

Seventh Day Adventist students will be out of school Monday between semesters.

Lincoln Catholic school students ended their first semester Friday and begin the second semester Monday without any vacation.

Merger Barred By Court Order

New York (AP) — The proposed merger of Atlantic Richfield Co. and Sinclair Oil Corp. was barred Friday by a temporary restraining order issued by Judge William B. Herlands in U.S. District Court.

The Justice Department has sought the temporary injunction pending a trial on whether the proposed merger was in violation of antitrust statutes.

The restraining order expires in 10 days.

Dog Stands Over Injured Woman; Police Use Mace

Indianapolis, Ind. (AP) — A guide dog, refusing to allow police to approach its injured mistress, had to be subdued Friday with the temporary disabling chemical Mace.

The woman, Regina Ellen Kane, a partially blind deaf mute, was struck by a truck as she walked around another truck blocking a sidewalk, police said.

As the woman lay in the street with severe head and chest injuries, the dog stood over her with bared teeth.

Police climbed on the hood of a truck, sprayed the dog with Mace and pulled it away from its mistress with a rope. She was taken to an Indianapolis hospital in critical condition.

Absurd For Outgoing President To Offer Budget Message—Hruska

Washington (AP) — Nebraska Sen. Roman Hruska, a Republican, said Friday it looks like the Johnson Administration is trying to push the government into commitments from which the Nixon administration cannot escape.

Hruska said this seems to have emerged from President Johnson's budget message.

He also commented that it is "something of an absurdity of the law" for the outgoing President to offer either a budget message or a State of the Union message at this time.

"I realize that the existing law and timetable on the basis of which we work call for him to present these messages," Hruska said. "However the fact is that he will go out of office in a few days. We will have a new chief executive and a new program to consider."

He suggested that Congress change the law so an outgoing president would not be submitting a budget message for a period more than 17 months after he leaves office.

Wrong Scenario

Buenos Aires (UPI) — Two youths discovered that the kind of holdups you see in cowboy movies can't be staged on the back streets of a big city. Juan Carlos Baus, 18, and Horacio Pascual, 20, confessed after their arrest that, on horseback, they had been hailing pedestrians in the alleys of Buenos Aires, threatening them with revolvers, and then dashing off with what loot they could get.

Ft. Calhoun Plant Expected To Cost $30 Million More

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Public Power District's atomic power plant near Ft. Calhoun may cost more than expected — $30 million dollars more.

The price of the plant is estimated at $94 million or $30 million more than figures given in 1966. E. E. Schwalm, general manager, said the changes were ordered by the Atomic Energy Commission and attributed to cost rises.

He explained that most of the changes have involved making the plant safer in case of storms, disruptions or explosions.

Inflation Measures

Jakarta (UPI) — Indonesia hopes to limit inflation in 1969 to 20%.

Car License No. 324 Remains In Harrison Family 66 Years

Grand Island (AP) — For the 66th consecutive year, Hall County auto license number 324 remains in the Harrison family.

Ray L. Harrison of Grand Island obtained Nebraska plates 8-A324 to keep the string intact.

Harrison's brother, Guy L., originally obtained the number for the first automobile licensed in Hall County.

It was a 1903, two-cylinder Rambler, Ray Harrison recalls. When it was licensed in 1904, there were no county numbers, but licenses were obtained from the state. State No. 324, on a round aluminum tag to be attached to the dashboard, was obtained for $2. Only one other car, a two-cylinder Buick, was licensed in Hall County that year, Ray Harrison recalls, and it got No. 348.

Ray's 58 Years

For the last 58 years Ray Harrison has had the number after his brother passed it along to him.

Over the years it has appeared on the following cars:

A 1903 Rambler, 1906 Columbia, 1909 Overland, 1912 Mitchell, 1914 Overland, 1922 Dodge, 1926 Franklin, 1929 Buick, 1934 Chrysler, 1950 Packard, 1957 Chevrolet and 1962 Chevrolet.

What's New in Lincoln. Illustrated feature stories in the "Sunday Journal and Star" keep you informed.

Journal and Star Want Ads

Your low-cost Want Ad appears daily in the Lincoln Star (Morning) and the Lincoln Journal (Evening) or the Sunday Journal and Star at the following cash rates:

Words	Lines	DAYS
		1	4	7	10
—10	2	.90	2.96	4.06	4.40
11-15	3	1.20	4.20	5.67	6.30
16-20	4	1.52	5.44	7.28	8.00

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

Aug. 20 is Bologna Stuffers' Day in Argentina and they get a day off.

☆ ☆ ☆

Horses were probably first trained to do work more than 5,000 years ago.

☆ ☆ ☆

Every day at twilight, thousands of bats fly out of the natural opening to Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico.

A giraffe may tower 19 feet.

Ghosts still haunt many countries. The mountain kingdom of Mustang in Nepal counts 416 demons of land, sky, fire and water. In England more than 150 castles and countless stately homes boast resident spooks. Chinese Communists clarified their party line on haunts in 1956. There is a place for "spirits" in Chinese life under Mao, but "wizards, fairies and ghosts" are prohibited.

The 300-mile asphalt road from Kabul to Kandahar in Afganistan has a special lane for camels.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example. A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A X Y D L B A A X R
to L O N G F E L L O W

Here is a practial little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
